Education Board Requests Van Ingen to Retain Post

Trustees Delay Acceptance of Superintendent of School's Resignation for Another Week

Work Is Praised

President Schmid and Trustee Hutton Point Out Valuable Work

Action on acceptance of the resignation of Superintendent of Schools B. C. Van Ingen was delayed for one week by the Board of Education in the hopes that Mr. Van Ingen might still reconsider his request to be relieved of school duties on August first.

It was with regret that the board received the resignation a month ago and following a long discussion the members felt that perhaps he might reconsider his request and the matter was held in abeyance for a month.

Friday evening the matter came up for action and while members of the board expressed their desire to relieve Mr. Van Ingen of the arduous duties of office as he requested, they were unanimous in their opinion and hope that he might still reconsider his action and remain for another year. It was with this idea in view that the board adopted a resolution to with-hold action for a week in order that Mr. Van Ingen might give the matter final thought and make his decision known. The Board will hold a special meeting on March 3 to make a decision after hearing Mr. Van Ingen's final decision.

For One More Year

Prior to adjourning several of the members expressed their hope that he might see fit to remain one more year, although every member of the board expressed an opinion that it had been with great sacrifice in personal matters that Mr. Van Ingen had remained during the past two years when construction was progressing.

Two years ago Mr. Van Ingen expressed a desire to retire from active school work but the board prevailed upon him to remain until the school expansion and building program was completed and the system in working order.

Last month Mr. Van Ingen requested his release and submitted his resignation to take effect August first. The board delayed action for a month in order to give him an opportunity to reconsider.

In reply to the board's action, Mr. Van Ingen said he had been giving the matter thought for the past two years and felt he owed it to his family to retire.

Mindful of Sacrifice

President Schmid stated that the board was mindful of the sacrifice Mr. Van Ingen had made during the past two years. He had consented to remain until the problem of congestion was relieved and now that the Myron J. Michael School was open and functioning, the request was again made. Mr. Schmid spoke of the many people who had expressed a desire that Mr. Van Ingen remain and he spoke of the time and study which Mr. Van Ingen had given the building program of the past two years.

Trustee Hutton said no member could have served on the board during the past two years and been unmindful of the self sacrifice and devotion to duty which had been given by the Superintendent of Schools and he said it would be extremely difficult to find a successor who would be motivated by the high ideals of Mr. Van Ingen.

"We would be immeasurably compensated if we could induce Mr. Van Ingen to remain another year," said Mr. Hutton.

Other members spoke relative to filling the position if vacated and of the need for time to seek a successor who could carry on as effectively as the present superintendent.

Mr. Van Ingen said he would not leave the board in the lurch if they did not have a successor by August first, but he intimated that he had been two years making up his mind to seek retirement and indicated that he would not easily be persuaded to change that idea.

Discussion followed as to when a new man could better take up the duties and it was agreed that August was ideal since a new man would have an opportunity to become acquainted and get the system in order for opening of schools in September.

Trustee Lane said perhaps the board owed a duty to Mr. Van Ingen to accept his resignation in recognition of the courteous service which had been given the board during the past two years since Mr. Van Ingen first contemplated retiring. The past two years were strenuous ones with terrific strain on the superintendent. It was Trustee Cragin's opinion that the board had been fortunate [illegible] having Mr. Van Ingen during the past two years and he said [illegible] not feel the board should force him against his will to remain.

Delay of Week

The conclusion was that the board unanimously agreed to

Hungarians Fear Nazi Party Will Re-Form

Ferenc Szalasi (above) is leader of the principal Hungarian Nazi party, known as the Hungarists, which has been banned as a menace to public safety. Szalasi has been in prison since last spring.

Illegal Political Activity Seen as Possibility Under Decree Outlawing Hungarist Party; Code Lists Found

Budapest, Feb. 25 (AP)—Hungarian political police investigated tips today that the Hungarist Nazi movement, abolished in nation-wide raids yesterday, was re-forming to continue underground as an illegal political organization.

A question giving concern to authorities was whether they had smashed the troublesome movement, by raids in which more than 500 persons were arrested, only to have it replaced by a more disturbing undercover activity.

Several Hungarists had boasted that they did not fear being outlawed because they already had set up a framework of activity outside the law.

Experts at the interior ministry deciphered documents in code seized at Hungarist headquarters. Police said keys to several codes were found. Some confiscated sheets were filled with columns of numbers thought to be membership lists which could be read only in conjunction with other lists containing jumbled names.

Police declared they had evidence that the Hungarists aimed

Justice McLaughlin, Of Brooklyn Dies

New York, Feb. 25 (AP).—State Supreme Court Justice Alonzo G. McLaughlin, 64, died in his Brooklyn home shortly after 1 a. m. today.

Justice McLaughlin was admitted to the bar in 1897 after graduation from the City College of New York and the New York Law School.

He served as Kings county judge from 1922 until 1934 and became a supreme court justice in 1935. He was a prominent Catholic layman.

5,090 Are Listed In City Schools

Supt. Van Ingen Gives Report Which Shows 2,462 at High and Michael Schools

Registration of students in the Kingston High School for the second term of the 1938-1939 school year is 1,766, of which 635 are non-residents. At the new Myron J. Michael School the registration is 696, making a total of 2,462 students in the two schools in the high school center. In the eight grade schools of the city there are registered 2,628, making a total school population of 5,090 in the city.

The registration figures were included in the monthly report of Superintendent B. C. Van Ingen, who also submitted a report on the results of the January examinations. His report, which was filed, follows:

12 in Hospitals as Five Railroad Cars Upset in Wyoming

Four Pullmans, Club Car of 'Pony Express' Laden With Skiers, Fair-Bound Folk Go Down Embankment

Laramie, Wyo., Feb. 25 (AP)—The overturning of five railroad cars loaded with westbound vacationists left 12 people, including several executives of an Iowa insurance company, in a hospital here today.

Four Pullmans and the club car of the Union Pacific's 15-car "Pony Express," carrying visitors to San Francisco's Golden Gate Exposition and ski enthusiasts to Sun Valley, Idaho, careened down a 20-foot embankment three miles west of Bosler, Wyo., at 10 o'clock last night.

Ambulances plowed through a heavy fog, in zero weather, to bring 15 injured persons to a hospital here. Three of them were released early today after treatment for minor injuries.

The most seriously injured were:

Oscar Gray, negro porter from Oakland, Calif., possible back fracture.

A. G. Hague, Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, broken shoulder, cuts.

Mrs. Joe Ryan, Jr., Des Moines, Iowa, broken collar bone.

Mrs. W. A. Fraser, Lincoln, Neb., broken collar bone.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jaeger and E. H. McConney, of Des Moines, Ia., were among those less seriously injured.

Jaeger is executive vice president, and McConney is actuary and vice president of a Des Moines, Iowa, insurance company (Bankers Life).

Hague, Ryan and four of the others hurt are agents or agency managers for the Des Moines company in other cities.

Several hundred yards of track were torn up when the train was derailed, and railroad officials said an emergency track was being laid around the wreck site to restore westbound traffic over the double-track line.

The insurance party, in two special Pullmans, was en route to the San Francisco Fair. Also on the train were several young people from prominent Denver families en route to Sun Valley.

Italians Flock Out Of France in Reply To Duce's Decree

Thousands Board Trains on Way Back to Native Soil; 'Only Beginning' of Acts Seen as Slap at France

'Back to Work'

Officially French Accept 'Back to Work' Reason Given by Rome

Paris, Feb. 25 (AP)—Thousands of Italian citizens living in France were leaving for their homeland today in a mass exodus under Premier Mussolini's repatriation order for Italians abroad.

An Italian embassy spokesman said the exodus was "only a beginning."

Italian officials said several hundred Italians were leaving Paris aboard special trains in the afternoon while "nearly 3,000" were returning to their native land from Marseille, Bordeaux and other cities.

Although the movement officially was in response to the repatriation order under which Italians in all lands were being called home, it was viewed in many quarters as a direct slap at France.

Officially, the French government accepted Rome's expressed purpose to get most of the Italians living abroad back to work in Italy.

Despite this reason, the occurence of the repatriation at a crucial moment in Italian-French relations was viewed by responsible quarters as due to one of two things:

Either Italy feared war with France might come soon or;

Italy wanted "to frighten" the French into believing she was preparing to back up colonial demands on France with action.

Today's repatriation movement followed by a day a disclosure that Italian residents of Corsica, French island department near the Italian mainland, were returning home. The Italian embassy estimated the number to leave Corsica on Monday at about 1,000.

(Italy estimates the number of Italians living abroad at 10,000,000, a figure which does not take into account naturalizations and includes the children born of Italians abroad.

According to this figure there are 992,000 Italians in France, 3,749,000 in the United States, 1,837,000 in Brazil and 1,826,000 in Argentina. Mussolini wants to get as many as possible of these under the Italian flag.)

Italian flags were set up in standards in the Lyon station in Paris as the assembly point for the Italians leaving today aboard special trains.

The trains were due to leave at 5:15 p. m. (12:15 p. m., E.S.T.)

A Rome dispatch said foreign circles in the Italian capital regarded the mass homecoming as a further gesture of ill-feeling toward France.)

The Italian embassy set the number to leave Corsica on Monday at about 1,000.

(Reports from Corsica yesterday said Italian consulates had advised all Italian residents of the island to return to Italy within the shortest possible time.)

Russian Dancer Dies

Los Angeles, Feb. 25. (AP).—Ayna Sosayera, 27-year-old Russian dancer, died early today after she gasped "someone hit me on the head" and collapsed on the Los Angeles City College campus. Detective Lieut. William Clark said she had been criminally attacked as she returned to her nearby apartment from a night dramatics class at the college.

British Monarchs' Visit Taking Shape And Trip to Hyde Park Is on Schedule

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—It was President Roosevelt's move today in the protracted exchanges required to arrange for the four-day visit of King George VI of Great Britain and his commoner queen, Elizabeth, to the United States next June.

Mr. Roosevelt had yet to approve dates and other details. But after the King's second secretary, Alan F. Lascelles, conferred yesterday with George T. Summerlin, chief of protocol at the state department, the pattern for the royal visit began to take shape. Tentatively, at least, it looked like this:

The first reigning British monarchs to visit the new world, 10 members of the royal party, and probably two-dozen servants will first touch United States soil at 9:30 p. m., June 7, at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

The 43-year-old king and his 37-year-old queen will travel directly to Washington, arriving in the capital next morning, Thursday, to be welcomed by President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

At the White House—a tiny place compared to Buckingham Palace—King George probably will sleep in the pink room, and Queen Elizabeth will have the suite President Hoover made from the old Lincoln study. Such members of their party as the King and Queen consider necessary to have with them also will be entertained in the White House.

The royal couple will be here June 8 and 9, before going with the President and First Lady to the Roosevelts' gray stucco home on the Hudson river near Hyde Park, N. Y., for one or two nights. Their visit to the New York World's Fair is set tentatively for the afternoon of June 10, followed by a motor trip to Hyde Park.

Just what the visitors will do those two days in Washington still is uncertain, but rumors have come from London of a state dinner and ball at the White House, a reception by congress at the capital, a dinner and reception at the British embassy and a visit to Mount Vernon.

$259,000 City Park Project Goes to Washington For Final Check; Would Employ 305 Men

City Engineer Norton Drafts Plans for Expanded Recreational Advantages; City's Share $50,000

Equipment $27,000

Tennis, Handball, Shuffleboard Courts, Roller Rinks Are Among Proposals

A city-wide WPA park project that has been set up by City Engineer James G. Norton to furnish work for 305 men for a 10-months' period at an estimated cost of $259,000, of which the city's share would be approximately $50,000, is now in Washington for final approval by the federal WPA.

The project, if approved, would add greatly to the usefulness of the city parks, since it calls for the building of tennis and handball courts, shuffleboard courts and roller skating tracks of concrete, as well as pavilions to be erected in several of the parks.

Of the $50,000 that would be the city's share of the project $27,000 has been allotted for equipment to carry on the work.

Among the additions proposed to be made in the city parks are:

Forsyth Park

The construction of additional tennis courts; a double handball court; a shuffleboard court; a roller skating track of concrete; the remodeling and enlarging of the comfort station in the park and the laying of a concrete floor under the pavilion with dressing rooms under the building for the use of the children who use the wading pool.

Hasbrouck Park

At Hasbrouck Park a 100-yard running track would be constructed; a shuffleboard court, a stage for performance; a concrete floor under the pavilion, a double handball court; a roller skating track; and additional tennis courts.

Lawton Park

At Lawton Park handball courts would be constructed; horseshoe pitching courts and a pavilion.

Block Park

At Block Park a new play area would be built; handball courts built; tennis courts, a stage for amateur performances; roller skating track, and shuffleboard courts.

Cornell Park

At Cornell Park a shuffleboard court will be erected, and the park fenced.

Hutton Park

At Hutton Park a pavilion would be built; tennis courts built; shuffleboard courts; a stage; a wading pool and a handball court.

Other Park Changes

The project also calls for additional improvements to the city parks, such as grading, shrubbery, plants and other work which will make the parks not only beautiful but of greater use to the public.

City Engineer Norton in discussing the construction of the roller skating tracks said that they would be built of concrete and during the winter months it would be possible to flood them so that they could be used for ice skating.

During the summer months the city parks in past years have put on a series of weekly entertainments for the public, which have been largely attended. In order to do so it has been necessary to construct wooden platforms which were used for stages. The present project calls for the erection of stages in several of the parks that will make it possible to give better facilities for these amateur performances, and add much to the enjoyment of the weekly programs.

600 Men on WPA

At the present time there are approximately 600 men and 29 women employed on WPA work projects in Kingston. The largest projects under way in the city at the present time are the new municipal stadium, which is rapidly nearing completion; the addition to the city laboratory on which work on the foundations is now being taken up; a city-wide sewer project and a city-wide water main project.

Replacing Old Mains

Under the city-wide water main project the WPA is tearing up the old 4-inch water mains, and replacing them with new 6-inch and 8-inch mains.

With the laying of the new mains better fire protection and better house service is being attained. Dead end water mains are also being eliminated in the city under this project which is employing a large number of men.

New Sewers Constructed

Under the city-wide sewer project old and obsolete sewers are

Priest Pleads With 'Sit-Down' Miners

A parish priest, the Rev. Joseph Baran (left), stands in water to appeal to a group of hardy coal miners to give up their "sit-down" strike in a mine near Hazelton, Pa. He brought a message from Hugh V. Brown, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, that the strike was "unauthorized." The 59 men in the mine said they were striking for back pay, and declared they would not come out until their demands were met.

New Jersey Police Arrest Man Who Picked Up Youth

Central Valley Boy Informs Troopers That a Man Gave Him Ride, Then Drove Away Very Wildly

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Feb. 25 (AP)—State Police Corporal Joseph D. Rutter reported today that a 41-year-old man was being held on an open charge following his arrest for holding a New York state youth prisoner on a "wild automobile ride" that started in Monticello, N. Y., and ended when the boy leaped from the car in nearby Wayne township.

Monticello is approximately 90 miles from Wayne township.

Rutter identified the prisoner as Albert Matysik of 7 Cambridge avenue, Garfield. Rutter said before further action was taken against Matysik he would be questioned by Prosecutor Arthur C. Dunn of Passaic county.

Rutter said the youth, Joseph Varlinski, 18, of Central Valley, N. Y., told police Matysik offered him a ride late yesterday afternoon while walking through Monticello on his way home.

As soon as he entered the car, Varlinski told police, the driver "stepped on the gas" and continued at speeds ranging from 75 to 90 miles an hour through back roads.

Rutter said Varlinski attempted to leap from the car, but was restrained by Matysik. Finally Varlinski broke the man's grasp, Rutter continued, and fell to the highway where he was found unconscious by a passing motorist who notified state police.

Varlinski was brought to the police barracks here by Troopers Frank Halley and Clifford Debout.

Rutter said a "hunch" caused him to pick up Matysik at his home. He said he received a letter from Sullivan county (N.Y.) authorities on Monday asking for information on a man named "Burton Matysik" who was being held for reckless driving. The man's address, Rutter said, was the same as Albert Matysik's.

Varlinski identified Matysik as the driver of the automobile, Rutter said.

Barkley Says No Bill Against Monopolies Will Go to Congress

Democratic Leader of Senate Gives Information as Coming From Chairman of Group Appointed to Investigate Monopoly and Other Economic Subjects

Washington, Feb. 25. (AP).—The Roosevelt administration's effort to quiet business fears and encourage private investment gained impetus today from a statement by Democratic Leader Barkley of the senate that he had received word no general anti-monopoly legislation would be offered at this session of congress.

Barkley told reporters he had received this information from Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), of the special commitee of legislators and government officials appointed to investigate monopoly and other economic subjects.

The senate leader added, however, that the committee would ask additional funds—probably at least as much as the $500,000 appropriated for it last year—to continue its investigations.

Barkley's announcement was one of several apparent indications that the crop of new laws turned out at the present session of congress might be comparatively small.

Another was the statement of Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, in an address last night at Des Moines, Iowa, that, "with the emphasis shifted from reform to recovery, this administration is now determined to promote that recovery with all the vigor and power at its command."

Speaking privately, several senators said the desire of many Democrats for party peace would tend to hold the session's output of new laws to a minimum. Saying continued Democratic strife would impair the party's chances in the presidential campaign next year, they predicted congressional leaders would avoid dissension by compromise or complete elimination of some measures.

Invitation is Studied

Des Moines, FLeb. 25 (AP).—American business men today studied an invitation from Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins for labor, agriculture and business to join government "on the same side of the table" to work out the nation's economic problems.

In a speech filled with references to "free enterprise," "private investment" and "business confidence," the secretary here last night asserted the national administration is out to promote recovery "with all the vigor and power at its command."

"The government earnestly wishes that these things (recovery) be accomplished, and we ask that labor, the farmer and business men join us not across, but on the same side of; the table to accomplish our common purpose," Hopkins asserted.

First comment from business circles indicated a favorable reaction, in general, to the cabinet member's speech. However, there were some who softened their appraisal of his plans with a suggestion that business wait for a practical demonstration of his program.

Legislative 'Jury' Considering Fate Of Tax Program

Moffat Says He Doesn't Know Yet What Fiscal Group Will Do About Budget; Three Courses Are Discussed

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP).—A legislative "jury" pondered the fate of Governor Lehman's tax program for balancing his record $411,682,122 budget today after hearing some phases of it assailed as "confiscatory" and a threat to business solvency.

Republican Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat, head of a joint legislative fiscal committee that, for more than 13 hours this week, heard the chief executive's proposals attacked in one of the bitterest tax-protest demonstrations in capitol annals, said committee members would begin deliberation early next week.

"I don't know yet what we will do," said Moffat, chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee. "Points brought out at this hearing demand the most careful consideration. We and the Senate finance committee will go to work on the problem as early as possible next week."

Three courses have been most generally discussed as the Republican-dominated legislature's ultimate treatment of the budget and the financing puzzle it entails. They are:

Adoption of the budget and three new taxes submitted by Governor Lehman for raising $64,000,000, a solution with little appeal for most legislators in the face of the public opposition voiced.

Reduction of state aid by at least $26,000,000, favored by some Republican leaders to remove necessity of the proposed $1-a-$1,000 valuation tax on real estate which, estimated to yield that amount, was the target of the greatest protest.

Enactment of a state-wide two per cent sales tax, which having some other influential Republican support, is seen as a potential source of $135,000,000.

PORT EWEN NEWS

Celebrate Seventh Birthday

Port Ewen, Feb. 25. — Elsie Marie Mingle of Hasbrouck street entertained friends on February 22, the occasion being her seventh birthday. Games were played and refreshments served. The girl received many beautiful gifts. Those present were: Anna Winchell, Barbara Hutt, Ruth Barley, Ruth Behrens, Ruth Vining, Agnes Bridge, Eloise Van Leuven, Verna Greco, Edna Fisk, Carolyn Weiss, Jimmy Tubby and the hostess, Elsie Mingle.

Swinging Cradle to be Exhibited

Port Ewen, Feb. 25.—Among the heirlooms of yesterday to be featured in the exhibit to be held on May 9 by the Dorcas Society in the Reformed Church House, will be an old fashioned swinging cradle. This cradle now belongs to little Peggy Lee Wonderly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wonderly of Bayard street. The cradle swings from two upright posts, joined by a stretcher across the base, and is the size of a modern bassinet. It was given to Peggy's grandmother, Mrs. Charles W. Card of Hamilton street when she was a tiny baby on the wooden wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Yokum, by some of the guests at the celebration. This is one of the cradles to be exhibited. The story of others will appear at a later date.

Mrs. Frank White assisted by Mrs. Phoebe Ostrander and Mrs. Charles Behrens entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. White, at a silver tea. A large group enjoyed a pleasant afternoon after which dainty refreshments were served. This is the second in a series of such events to be held for the benefit of the Dorcas Society.

Lenten Series to Begin At Wurts Street Church

At the Wurts Street Baptist Church, the pastor, the Rev. Clarance Edward Brown, will begin a series of Lenten messages on the theme, "Religion and World Today." These messages will be timely, vital and present to the church its responsibility today in living true religion. The first of these messages, "Civilization at the Cross-roads," will be given Sunday morning and the others will be:

March 5—"Honesty to Accept the Truth."

March 12—"A Spiritual Conception of Life."

March 19—"The Courage to Live Reality."

March 26—"The Lofty Ideals of Religion."

April 2—"The Triumpant Victory of Love."

April 9—"The Realization of Immortality."

Music appropriate to the Lenten season will be given by the choir under the direction of Herman La Tour.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Panty Waste

High Point, N. C.—Two tailors made a pair of trousers so large that both could get into them at the same time.

They did—and had their picture taken in triumph.

But the customer wouldn't accept the trousers. The 66-inch waist was too tight.

Muyskens to Give Evening Address Sunday at Comforter

Sunday evening the Rev. C. P. Muyskens will address the annual Sunday evening church service sponsored by the Reformed Church of the Comforter Men's Club in the Comforter Church auditorium beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

This service is open to the public and will be in charge of various members of the Men's Club.

Paul E. Barnum, church organist and choir director, will play for this service, and the Men's Glee Club under the direction of Frank Elmendorf, will render two selections.

To Give Entertainment

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Ulster Park Reformed Church will hold an entertainment and cake sale in the church hall on Tuesday evening, February 28, at 8 o'clock. There will be three short plays, music and readings. Hot dogs, cake, coffee and ice cream will be on sale. Games will be played after the entertainment.

whether professional politicians, ith all their acumen, can do as good a job along this line as disinterested experts. It is too easy for anyone with a job or prestige at stake to believe what he wants to believe. Why not hire professional samplers of public opinion? That has come to be a regular profession lately, often producing results turn out to be incredibly accurate.

As for the public that is being thus sampled and studied, it doesn't mind.

BIBLE IN HOLLYWOOD

It seems that we are now going to get Scripture in the films. The Rev. James K. Friedrich of Minnesota has gone to Hollywood to make a picture of the Bible story of the Good Samaritan. He is a novice in the movie industry, but thinks the best way to spread the gospel today is by telling a story through motion pictures. His sincerity is proved by the fact that he is spending mainly his own money to do it. He hires experts to write the scenario, and for players will get the best people available.

The reverend gentleman may "have something." Thomas Mann, the exiled German has had a serial novel running successfully for three years, dealing with the "Joseph cycle" in the Old Testament. That work itself would make a magnificent film. The Bible may be full of characters and stories providing material for great picture dramas, needing only the talent to transplant them in this new medium.

WHERE PEACE BEGINS

In a simple but wise pre-Lenten sermon, the other day, a preacher urged his congregation to give up three things—"temper, worry, grouch." They are self-indulgences which probably cause more trouble than many of the luxuries and pleasures that religious persons deny themselves during this period.

"These three little things," said the discerning preacher, "are at the bottom of the greatest evils in this world. If we could learn that lesson for this Lent, I think it would take care of everything else."

Temper and worry are only cowardice, he explained, and a grouch causes more gnawing hearts than anything else in the world." Peace, like charity, begins at home. In fact, it depends upon that charity which begins in individual human hearts and radiates the warmth of kindness and peace to others.

There are times when it is easier to go without candy than to control the temper, to stay home from a movie than to banish worry. Yet the rewards for success with the difficult mastery of thought and speech are infinitely great. It is easy to believe that if this Lenten advice was widely followed, the solution of many social and economic problems, as well as personal problems, would be near.

A neighbor explains that these European nations have to go to war because they can't make a living at home. Seems as if they must live on each other's poverty.

It's a curious coincidence that wherever the American war fleet is maneuvering, it finds Japanese fishermen innocently engaged in fishing with nets and field glasses.

Pan-American trade can't be a one-way traffic. The Latin-Americans are all willing to take our goods if we'll take theirs.

Time flies. We haven't got our Christmas debts paid yet and the baseball teams have gone South for spring training.

The Japs seem to be suffering from an occupational disease; and what'll they occupy next?

Most of us don't know much about Europe, but we know which countries we dislike.

The dictatorships are up in the air both literally and figuratively.

ALLERGY—A COMMON CAUSE OF ASTHMA

Ten years ago newspapers carried the story of a man living in New York, greatly afflicted with asthma, who went out west to see if the climate would cure his asthma. To his surprise his asthmatic attacks disappeared and he joyously sent for his family and furniture. The family had been with him only a day or two when his asthmatic attacks returned and almost in despair he again set out to find a suitable climate. Again his asthmatic attacks disappeared and again the family moved to his new home. To their dismay the asthmatic attacks returned but this time it was felt that something connected with the family or furniture was causing the asthma. Patient investigation disclosed that the fur of the beloved family cat was causing the attacks of asthma. With the removal of the cat, the patient became free of attacks anywhere and at all times.

This sensitiveness of an individual to fur, feathers, foods, pollen of plants and other substances is called allergy and most of us are allergic to one or more substances, the commonest of which are eggs, wheat, and the pollen of plants.

Naturally this new science—allergy—has excited great interest among physicians and others and it comes as a shock to learn that away back in the sixteenth century it was known that a man could get asthma from sleeping on a feather pillow. Thus in Science Monthly we read:

"Actually a case of asthma was attributed to feathers and cured by removing the feather bed as long ago as 1575. In that year Jerome Cardan, a great physician of Padua, was called to Edinburgh to see the Archbishop who suffered from asthma. The Paduan physician probably had no idea of allergy or oversensitiveness to feathers such as physicians have today. Certainly he was not able to make skin tests of his distinguished patient. But Cardan was able to study and observe his patient carefully and make logical conclusions from his observations. He advised the Archbishop to give up certain articles of his diet and get rid of his feather bed. Relief of the asthma promptly followed."

While there are causes of asthma other than allergy, the fact that allergy or oversensitiveness to various substances is the cause of a great many cases should always be remembered.

Allergy

"What is one man's food is another man's poison" is an old saying but it is being proven true almost daily. Some persons are allergic or oversensitive to various foods and other substances and may have attacks of asthma, hay fever, skin eruptions, headaches and other symptoms when they eat or come in contact with these substances. Send today for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet called 'Allergy' which explains how to find these offending foods and what to do about them. Enclose ten cents to cover cost of service and send your request to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the name of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

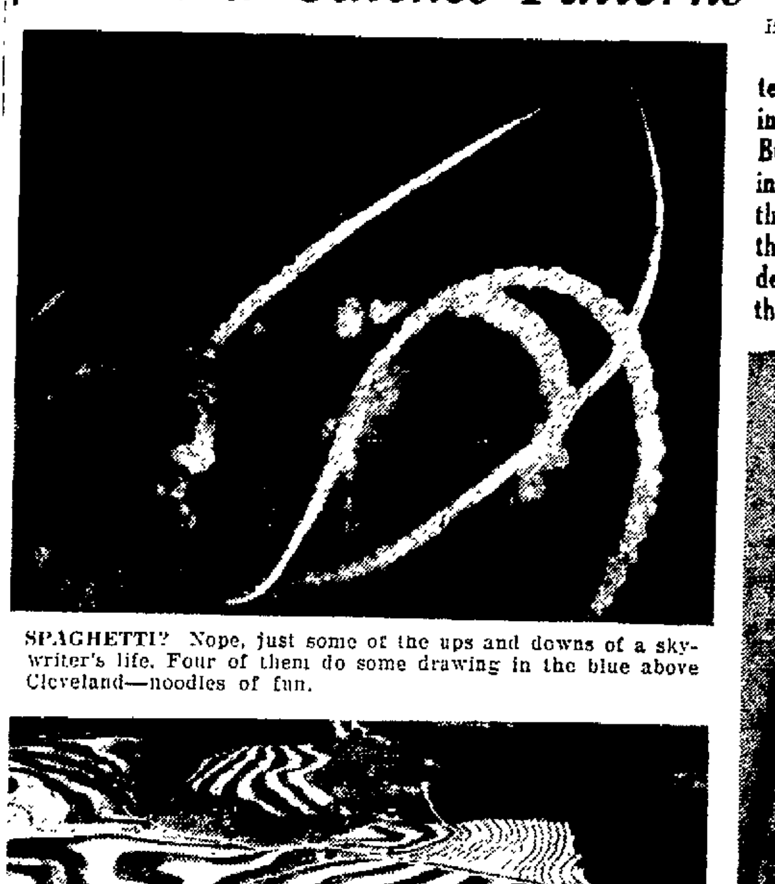
San Francisco, (AP).—There is an estimated million dollars in possession of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company that shortly will go begging for lack of people to claim it. The money represents one-sixth of $6,000,000 impounded during a rate dispute which the courts have ordered rebated to gas consumers. Public utility experts say that in such cases about this proportion of impounded funds cannot be returned, owing to consumers having died or moved without forwarding addresses. Under existing law, several officers assert the money will revert to the company.

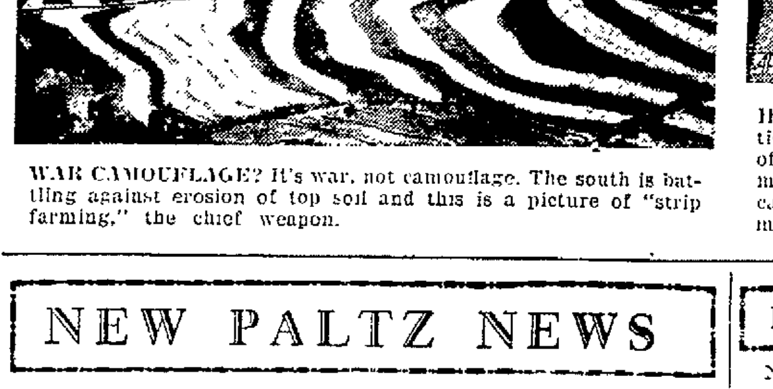
Camera Catches Patterns in Pictures

By The AP Feature Service

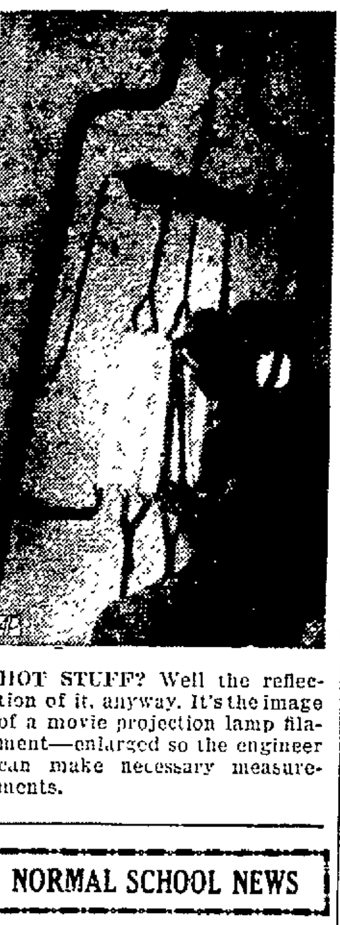
The news cameraman is interested chiefly in photographing subjects of news value. But once in a while he runs into fascinating patterns. Then the result is a picture like these, which look as if a modern artist might have drawn them.



SPAGHETTI? Nope, just some of the ups and downs of a sky-writer's life. Four of them do some drawing in the blue above Cleveland—noodles of fun.



WAR CAMOUFLAGE? It's war, not camouflage. The south is battling against erosion of top soil and this is a picture of "strip farming," the chief weapon.



HOT STUFF? Well the reflection of it, anyway. It's the image of a movie projection lamp filament—enlarged so the engineer can make necessary measurements.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

New Paltz, Feb. 24—The willing Workers held their meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Elliott in Plutarch Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton DePuy entertained guests Sunday.

The Alumni president of the Normal School, Leslie S. Oakley, has invited the 4,800 graduates to the annual reunion luncheon on March 11 at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon to be held at the Waldorf Astoria, New York city. The class of 1889 will observe its 50th anniversary.

The Home Bureau unit of Forest Glen, New Paltz, held an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Kurtz. The business session was in the morning with the election of officers. The nominating committee was Mrs. Louis LeFevre, chairman, Mrs. C. Neilson and Mrs. J. Krajicek. Officers nominated were: President, Mrs. Raymond DuBois; vice-president, Mrs. C. Vandewater; secretary, Mrs. Arthur Kurtz. The approval was unanimous. A vote of thanks was given to those having served for two years. The lesson for the day was meat preparation. The leader was Mrs. R. DuBois. All enjoyed lunch at noon in honor of the birthday of their hostess. The luncheon consisted of hot soup, salad, biscuits, ice cream and cake.

The Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church is making arrangements for a Communion breakfast to be held Sunday morning, March 19. The general chairman is Moses LaMere of Prospect street.

Mrs. Morgan Coutant and Mrs. Merton DePuy visited Poughkeepsie Tuesday.

Della Ester Jansen of New Paltz has filed a certificate with the county clerk stating that the business formerly conducted by Thomas Jensen at New Paltz under the name and style of "Coffee Pot" is being continued under her name.

Extensive improvements are taking place at the Auto Sales and Garage Company, corner of North Chestnut and North Front streets. A show room and stock room have been put in and are changing the office to the south side of the building.

Mrs. Raymond Miller and daughter of Newburgh were recent guests at the home of E. F. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Wilsey of Highland were callers at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Emilie Terwilliger, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred Swift and Mrs. Walter Roe spent Tuesday in Poughkeepsie where they celebrated Mrs. Swift's birthday.

The Methodist Missionary Society met with Mrs. Emma Silkworth and sister, Miss Lila Paris, on Church street Friday afternoon. President, Mrs. S. McKeand Kevan, presided. Mrs. Morgan Coutant led the devotions. The president took charge of the study period, a continuation study on India. NORMAL SCHOOL NEWS

New Paltz, Feb. 25—The musical organizations of the Normal School are completing their rehearsals for the annual Spring Concert. This is the last presentation of entertainment in connection with the Lyceum programs. Under the direction of Miss Jennie Lee Dan, the Girls Glee Club will present "The Omnipotence" by Schubert, "A Serenade" by Noble Cain, "I Dream of Jeanie" by Stephen Foster and "Dedication" by Robert Franz. The second group will consist of "Summertime" from George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," and numbers by Sigmund Romberg and Rudolf Friml. Under the direction of Miss Harding, the chorus will present "When Love Is Kind," an old English air, "I Would That My Love" by Mendelssohn, and "The Cradles" by Faure, and combining with the male chorus both organizations will sing "Noble Chief, Thee We Hail," from "Life for the Czar" by Glinka, and the Vesper Hymn in concluding while the Glee Club according to tradition sings the Alma Mater. Complete programs from the other groups are to be announced shortly.

Dr. Van den Berg will represent New Paltz Normal at the annual American Association of Teachers' Colleges meeting February 24, and 25 at Cleveland, Ohio. This association is national in character and is represented by schools from Maine to California. The Normal School has been a member of this association for over a period of 15 years.

Administration Renews Its Efforts to Assure Business Profits Are All Right Again

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)

Washington, Feb. 25—Efforts to reassure business men that they can go ahead and make profits have begun anew.

Two pronouncements in the last 24 hours have been deliberately made for the express purpose of removing fears and apprehensions.

First came the explanation by Secretary Morgenthau that no new taxes were contemplated by the administration. Next came the speech of Harry Hopkins, the new secretary of commerce.

Now, both of these moves were discussed at the cabinet meeting which took place before President Roosevelt went away on his trip to the Caribbean. Unfortunately, the brief remarks which the President made at his informal press conference on the train were not amplified sufficiently to make clear the far-reaching significance of the new policy. That's why the secretary of treasury's public statement has had such a stimulating effect on the security markets. It made definite what had previously been vague.

This problem of new taxes means not only that no further levies are planned, but that there may be some revisions or adjustments of the tax laws to operate as an incentive to business. Certain kinds of tax legislation are almost always before Congress, and there is a bill pending to renew certain miscellaneous taxes which were due to expire. It may be that an opportunity will be presented at this session to provide several forms of incentive to business through the tax authority.

The removal of fear concerning new and higher taxes is an important factor in the reestablishment of business confidence. Fear of governmental policy, whether justified or not, has been at the root of much of the so-called lack of business confidence. To say there is not going to be any general upward revision of taxes is to give business men a feeling of stability on that point.

But what of the other policies which so often are cited by business men as the source of their worries? Secretary Hopkins attempted to deal with these in his first formal address since he took over the department of commerce. His speech has in it the tone of friendliness and cooperation which his predecessor, Daniel Roper, used right along. But still business men declined to give weight to Mr. Roper's words of reassurance. Will they feel any differently now?

The answer may be that Mr. Hopkins will be regarded as having full support of the President and that pledges made now by the secretary of commerce represent Mr. Roosevelt's plans and purposes. An examination of Mr. Hopkins' address, however, fails to supply any specific formulas as to how such problems as instilling confidence in investors to engage in utility financing are to be solved, or how relations between employers and employes are to be improved without furnishing some new or revised machinery for adjustment of disputes. Not a word is said, for instance, by Mr. Hopkins as to how the administration stands on the proposed A. F. of L. amendments to the Wagner Act.

As to the utility problem, Mr. Hopkins has been persuaded to believe that the controversy about the TVA has been much ado about nothing and that the lawyers were mostly responsible for the so-called war between the government and the utilities. That isn't what the average investor in utility securities would say. So long as the government supplied the money for TVA and gave no indication of how far it had embarked on a course of state socialism, it was natural for the private utilities to balk and for investors to grow apprehensive. All the lawyers really did was to keep the cases going on in the courts so that confiscation could be postponed at least long enough for public opinion to become apprised of the dangers of government ownership. It would have been a much more effective argument from the administration's standpoint if Mr. Hopkins had gone back to the original purpose of the TVA and defended thre Roosevelt policy on the ground that a system of government ownership was not and is not intended, and that the purpose of TVA was merely to furnish an experimental area in which to develop a yardstick with which to measure electric light rates everywhere else. The "yardstick" idea is understandable, but the continued appropriation, even now, by congress for more government power projects isn't. The lawyers, it is true, have failed to block the government ownership crusade on constitutional grounds, but public opinion can thwart it through the simple processes of the legislative branch of the government, where the House of Representatives is already giving evidence of a desire to reassure private investors by deeds rather than words.

The administration's words of hope and cheer to business are timely, and, were it not for the disturbed conditions related to Europe and the Far East, this would be a period of considerably larger business activity than it happens to be.

West Shokan News

West Shokan, Feb. 25.—Donald F. Bishop attended the Ulster County Electrical Contractors Association meeting held recently in Rifton.

Miss Jennie Kerr, after spending some time with her brother, Theodore, and wife, has returned to her home in Watson Hollow.

Mrs. Addie Kelder of West Shokan Heights called Tuesday afternoon on Mrs. Matie Davis and Mrs. Daisy Davis.

Charles H. Weidner of Hickory Hill Farm, delivered a 1,000 order shipment of his pedigreed white leghorn chicks to a customer in Newburgh on Tuesday.

Superintendent of Highways Claude Bell and Judge Lester S. Davis attended a business meeting this week in Albany.

Mrs. Marvin Van Demark of Main street is ill at her home and under the care of Dr. Hans J. Cohn.

Mrs. Stella Van Horn Longyear of Phoenicia was a caller Wednesday morning at West Shokan Heights.

The Washington's birthday meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society held at the church parlors proved outstanding as a business and social success. A dinner was served. Work progressed during the day on two quilts for out-of-town customers. The group present included: Mrs. Addie Van Demark, president; Mrs. Anna Avery, treasurer; Mrs. Belle Burgher, secretary; Mrs. Fanny Boice, Mrs. Addie Breithaupt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hyde and son, Warren, Mrs. Matie Davis, Mrs. Florence Bell, Mrs. Janie Eckert, Mrs. Alice Bell, Mrs. Florence Winkler and son, Paul, Mrs. Ralph Longyear of Phoenicia, Mrs. Bertha Bell, Mrs. Mary Pratt and Mrs. Faulk of Kingston. Next week the Ladies' Aid will entertain for dinner at the Wednesday meeting the teachers, Mrs. Ruth R. West and Miss Hazel Bell, and the children of the respective West Shokan and Bushkill district schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Large of Yonkers were in town over the week-end.

Ex-Supervisor and Mrs. Chester A. Lyons of Ashokan and ex-Town Clerk and Mrs. John C. Marshall and son, Harry, of Olive Bridge, were entertained for supper and spent the evening of Washington's birthday at the Davis home at West Shokan Heights.

Area's Most Thriving Industry Began in Old Ice House

Knaust Brothers Belief in Idea Proves Its Worth

Try at Cultivating Mushrooms Gave Rise to Opportunity for Building Business Which Still Expands

Common pasture lands in most nations of the world where the climate is temperate are the natural habitat of fungi growths, some of which man discovered long ago as delicacies.

One type today has a menu listing in eating places throughout the world, which is almost certain to bring the appetite and imagination in mutual sympathy.

The words are: "Steak smothered in mushrooms," and the suggested mental picture long has prompted quick ordering among gourmets.

Nature seems at its mystic best in the creation of this palatable food which is so well associated with steak, and it holds a distinctive place in the world of things which grow.

Fascinating Story

Just as fascinating as the botanical life of the mushroom itself, however, is the story of two young Ulster county men, who perceived its growing commercial value. They are the Knaust brothers, Herman and Henry, and their's is a success story unsurpassed in this region.

Mushrooms in the Catskill mountain area were as rare as edelweiss in the Alps, in the days before the Knaust brothers hit upon the idea of helping nature in their production. Their first venture was an experiment, but they saw from the outset that their business was destined to grow as precociously as the plant itself.

Not long after the World War the brothers returned to their humble home at West Camp. They had tried a hand at various jobs with little success and they got to discussing a mutual idea which haunted them sufficiently to set them in action.

Their first move in the venture, which ultimately made them owners of the most thriving industry in the Hudsaon Valley, was the leaving of space in an old ice house, not far from their humble homestead. Here began the business which yet today appears to have unlimited possibilities for its owners.

Each year brought new expansion and often production facilities were added monthly until today the industry ranks as one of the most important from Albany to New York. It is centered mainly at Coxsackie where the most people are employed, but other plants are at Saugerties, Catskill, Kingston, Binnewater, Lawrenceville, New Baltimore, Hudson, Alsen, Coeymans and a place near Stuyvesant.

375 Employes

Workers at the various plants are now estimated at 375 and it is expected that this number will soon be increased. One of the largest growing plants was opened at Saugerties in the former Sheffield Paper Mill last December and the plant at Hudson was added in January.

Every floor of the large Saugerties factory building is now used for the growing of mushrooms and floor space in an adjacent building is also utilized. The Hudson plant is not currently in use, but work there is expected to start soon.

A large canning factory was opened recently as part of the industry at Coxsackie. Here 60 women and 15 men are employed steadily. At Coxsackie also the growing trays are prepared for shipment to the various other plants. Baskets in which the fresh mushrooms are packed, are made at a small factory at Alsen and the spawn is produced at a laboratory in West Camp.

Paradox of Growth

It is a common belief that a dark, sombre environment is conducive to the growth of mushrooms. This is not true where they grow in pastures, but it is true to an extent in their production on a commercial scale.

Dark caves, deserted ice houses and sheds made damp for lack of sunlight, are selected by mushroom growers for their lack of draft or warm air that will dry the moisture in the growing beds.

Cultivation of the spawn, which is virtually soil containing mycelium, is perhaps the most difficult phase of the industry. Dung is added to the beds and a warm situation is essential when the spawn is ready for growing at the various plants.

Spawn at Laboratory

The spawn exhibits its first growing propensity at the laboratory where it shows up mixed with grain in bottles. It has the ethereal appearance of snow flakes and its strands are like the finest threads of white silk or cotton.

After it reaches a convincing stage of growth, the spawn is shipped from the laboratory in bottles to the preparation plant at Coxsackie. There it is put in trays which were invented and patented by the owners of the industry.

The particular type of tray used by the Knaust Brothers allows for the growth of the mushroom in factory buildings such as that at Saugerties, which had not been used by them up until recent years. A total of 27,000 of these trays are now in use and more will be added when required.

Fleet of Trucks

A fleet of trucks is kept in operation transporting the trays from Coxsackie to the growing plants and shipments of the grown mushrooms are taken to the marketing centers in trucks especially designed for that purpose. The output of the Saugerties plant alone is estimated at 3,000 baskets a day.

All places where the plants are grown are kept in darkness as a means of preserving the moisture in the beds. The trays are stacked in rows six high with aisles in between the rows and sufficient air space between the layers.

Crews Kept Busy

Crews of several men in each plant are kept busy picking the mushrooms which reach maturity about three weeks after they are sent from the Coxsackie preparation unit. The men are equipped with hats similar to those worn by miners with a small electric lamp at the top.

Some of these men work in the almost eerie but comfortable atmosphere of lime caves in this area where proper growing conditions are found. The temperature in all growing places is kept at 50 degrees, the year around and ice for the cooling system in the factory buildings is taken from plants owned by the Knaust Brothers.

Myriads of the ripened mushrooms are ready at all times for picking and thousands of others at all of the plants are in various stages of growth. The soil in the beds is kept moistened by sprinkling at various intervals and the men in charge of this work must be skilled in providing the proper amount of moisture.

Mushrooms Are Graded

After the mushrooms are picked they are graded and carefully packed by women who prepare them for immediate shipment. They are graded generally in three sizes.

Most of the mushrooms from the Knaust Brothers plants are sold through commission salesmen in New York and other cities. A few shipments are sold direct to hotel and restaurant men at Albany, but there are no other direct sales to the various other markets.

Long strides have been taken by the two brothers since they first set up their business in the ice house at West Camp. It progressed first at what might be called the ice house method since the brothers acquired additional space in several ice houses after their first step proved successful.

Used Old Lime Caves

Later they used space in the old lime caves in Kingston and at Binnewater until the industry finally reached a stage where it became expedient and practical to use factory buildings.

The Knaust Brothers are moved up the road now a short distance from the home where they first conceived the idea which eventually brought them a big industry. They own an estate with two houses and several other structures which includes their laboratory and a private school house attended by four children.

Across the valley from their estate are the Catskills, and the view includes the majestic Overlook at Woodstock and the range which extends from there up toward Palenville and Windham.

Many skeptics shook their heads and wondered when the news got around back about 1919 that the Knaust brothers were doing something with mushrooms in a neighborhood ice house.

"Some of the folks thought we were crazy, I guess, when we started in at the ice house," one of the brothers remarked recently, "but it wasn't long before they saw we had something."

In fact the brothers found encouragement to form a company and they did just that. This idea they soon abandoned however, for reasons of their own, and about 15 years ago they started by themselves again. New business spurred them on to greater expansion and they have been increasing production facilities rapidly since their second beginning.

Today even those who were skeptical at the outset, are proud of the success of their neighbors and frequently the words of praise are: "You certainly have to give those boys credit."

Reception Given By Mystic Court

Mystic Court, No. 62, Order of Amaranth, held its regular stated meeting at the Masonic Lodge rooms, Strand and Broadway, on Tuesday evening. A reception was given Royal Matron Janice Baker and Royal Patron Herbert Christian.

Associate Matron Kathryn Mellert was escorted to the throne for the ritual. A degree of "Hearts" was then presented by the officers.

Laura Winters was soloist during the degree. The royal patron also had placed on his lapel a boutonniere. The bouquet was presented to the royal matron by Associate Matron Mellert.

Royal Matron Janice Baker received a gift from her officers, presented by Conductress Marguerite Carnright, and also Royal Patron Herbert Christian a gift presented by Associate Conductress Alvinette Gerlach. The royal matron also received many gifts from friends. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Clarance Brown, past eminent commander of the Rondout Commandery No. 52, whose talk was based on "Ideals."

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening, and a candy sale in charge of the Hon. Ladies Ostrander and Harcourt was well patronized. At the next stated meeting of the court, March 21, past matrons and past patrons' night will be observed.

Chapter 74

'[illegible]s in Your Hand'

THE announcement of the engagement did not appear in the Times and News until three months later, in the spring of 1936. There was no hurry. Petronella had said. James agreed with her. Both felt that since they desired their partnership to be permanent, it must be given a trial. Petronella might believe that she could be happy in England, but find the test of quiet days too wearing. Moreover, at first, she had a strong feeling that events would prevent her marriage. But this feeling gradually faded. By the end of the three months, she thought she must have been wrong.

Spring came to Sussex. High winds, and cold, were succeeded by soft days of light clouds and bright sunshine. The wet hedges budded, vivid green. There were birds singing in the forest, a cuckoo calling, pale green silver birches and masses of wild cherry blossoms. There was such ethereal, breathtaking loveliness and lightness everywhere, that Petronella knew she was happy, and refused to doubt the cause. In their time arrived the first bee, the first butterfly, gipsies on the road again.

She felt lulled, peaceful, secure. This amusing, friendly comradeship with James promised to wear well. It could, and usually did, include a third person, without any feeling that it was an intrusion. She tried to imagine herself welcoming Tamara, if she had been spending a day with Tony. She failed. But then she had been too much engrossed, too ecstatic, too fiercely happy, she told herself wisely. Obviously, loving her only in his casual, practical way, as of secondary consideration, he would soon have made her miserable. James, she realized, was still jealous of Tony's ghost. But as the spring ended, and summer came, his anxiety seemed to disappear. The enthusiasm with which she and Tamara hunted for old pieces of furniture, in the second-hand shops was surely enough to reassure any man that she was intending to marry him.

Until her own doubts sprung to life again. It was the fortune-teller's fault. They w[illegible] by.

HERE'S two gentlemen that [illegible] loves you, one is dark, one is fair. One is in a troubled country, and you'll go to him soon." The cry was forced from her. "No!"

"Yes, you will. It's in your hand," the gipsy resumed in her sing-song voice. "Half against your will, but for good reason, and an unselfish motive. But he loves you truly, and though there will be much trouble you will find happiness."

"With — with the dark haired man?"

"I can't say. But I do know you're buying furniture for a home which will be lived in by another woman. Now, for another shilling——"

"No, thank you. That is enough!"

"Any good?" asked James. "I say, you look awfully white, my dear. Is there anything wrong?"

"Do you think there is anything in it?" Petrel asked, shakily.

"Sometimes. Sometimes it's just a pack of lies. What did she tell you?"

"An awful lot of non[illegible] [illegible]sense, I expect. [illegible] What else did she say to you, Tamara?"

"Well, I took her to mean you and James were going to present me with that desk we found in Lewes, as a birthday present, darling Petrel," she smiled guilelessly. "She said 'you helped to choose a piece of furniture, in which you will keep your own stockings.'"

"Stockings?" asked James, mystified.

"Well, it's a desk and it has drawers. You know what I am. And I did rather fall for that desk!"

"Petrel, what did she tell you?"

"I—I just can't. It was disturbing nonsense, and I'm not going to tell you unless it comes true," she refused blankly. She ought to feel miserable, she told herself, shocked. But her heart was beating fast, as though she had been promised freedom, instead of trouble.

"Your eyes are bright. It can't have been so bad," said Tamara.

"You shall have that desk," James promised, curtly.

As James drove her home to the cottage that evening, Petronella asked him suddenly, "James, are you quite certain you want to marry me? Are you quite certain you're happy about—us? That you aren't a little in love with Tamara? I want you to be absolutely frank, and truthful."

'Choose Tamara?'

HE STARED at her. He answered without hesitation.

"Good heavens, no! What on earth made you ask that? Choose Tamara, with you here, Petrel, you can't know how proud I am of you. I'm afraid I express myself too badly. I'm not a very passionate lover, my dear, because I know you don't love me. Not as I hoped you would, some day. Tony Lance took that. But I'm absolutely content. If you can be happy with me—well, surely I don't have to tell you how glad I am to love you? I'm satisfied. You may be very, very happy. I guessed that stupid old gipsy told you you loved one man and were planning to marry another."

"Yes." He gripped her hand tightly in his. "Then let's disprove her. Life can't be ruled by emotions, the way she would have it."

"That is so sane, and right, James. If ever I think anything else, it will be madness. Keep me with you." She rested her head against his shoulder, and looked at his profile, against the night sky.

For the moment, the incident seemed to draw her closer to James, in understanding. She did love him. But in a totally different way to that in which she had loved Tony. As the month of June passed, Petronella forgot her misgivings. The house on the Ridge was nearly finished. It would be ready for habitation by October. They would be married about the end of September.

Peter's sudden arrival home for a week at the beginning of July further lulled her into certainty. He had not seen Tony for months, he said. He had been in Spain.
[illegible]ny was, he believed, in Russia.
"[illegible]u're well out of it," he said.

But Peter did not follow his recipe for Tony's unhampered future. There were three days about which he was uncommunicative, but which she knew he spent with Marigold.

As he was packing his suit-case in his room at the cottage, preparatory to leaving again, from the small airport in Kent, where he had procured his machine, he looked up at Petronella.

"Help Marigold through, all you can. She's getting a divorce." He told her abruptly. She met his eyes. Peter bent to fasten a strap.

"Will you be glad when I'm safely hobbled?"

Petronella jumped both knees on to his bed, and took the lapels of his coat.

"Very, very glad. She'll have the custody of Jeremy, won't she?" Peter nodded.

"Yes. Don't think I bust that marriage up, Petrel. I didn't."

He was to blame, she thought, for ever allowing Marigold's marriage to happen. But it could not help to tell him what time had proved to him. She sighed. "I used to think divorces, like murders, were something that didn't happen in my family. I was wrong."

"Cheer up!"

"I have. Because you'll both be happy. But take care of yourself, darling, in Spain."

"I'll try. There does seem to be a good reason for living!"

Things even up. Mother doesn't growl like dad, but she gets the same effect by changing gears.

Florida imposes a 7-cent gasoline tax. It was argued when the law was enacted that tourists would pay the bulk of the tax, which amounts to $15,000,000 a year. Tourists usually have plenty of money and "home folks" like to sock it to 'em when they have a chance.

A balky mule has four-wheel brakes,
A billy goat has bumpers;
The firefly has a bright spotlight,
Rabbits are puddle-jumpers;
Camels have balloon-tired feet,
And carry spares of what they eat;
But still I think that nothing beats
The kangaroos with rumble seats.

We saw two autos, going opposite, slow down almost to a walk, this morning, in order to miss hitting a poor dog which couldn't make up its mind. And they tell us motorists are heartless!

An English boy bicyclist who was revealed as being good at figures but unable to read words got into trouble with the law because he could not read traffic signs. In this country there are many motorists who cannot read the words on highway signs nor the figures on their speedometers.

One may shoot his neighbor and get away with it, but woe unto the luckless gink who parks his car wrong.

Johnson, a traveler, had some trouble with his car one night and stopped on the road to fix it, but needed a monkey wrench, which he did not have. He saw a light in the house across the field, so he went over there and asked for a monkey wrench.

The man said that Smith over here runs a cattle ranch and Jones has a horse ranch and I run a sheep ranch, but do you think any body is fool enough to run a monkey ranch here in the United States?

Read it or not—Accidents account for 30 per cent of America's total motoring costs!

Helen—I suppose you never thought seriously of marrying?

Norman—Sure I did. So I didn't.

A man tells us he has no watch. "I'm out of employment," he says, "and I don't need to know when it's time to quit."

Being poor is expensive. A borrower must pay interest, and the poorer he is and the more urgent his need for funds, the larger this interest—one way or another—is likely to be.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Miss Katharine Hepburn, the de-glamorized morning glory, is back in the good graces of the metropolitan press, and all the movie writers seem too, too pleased. In fact, they seem just a shade too benevolent for my sensitive craw, and if I were Hepburn I'd ask them how the hell they get that way.

They are saying nice things about her now, but it was only a couple of Februaries back that they were writing how she "ran the gamut of emotion from A-to-B" and jeering at her Garbo manner.

It is true that Miss Hepburn frequently covered her head and fled from photographers. It is true, in my opinion, that she was very bad in all of the pictures she made in Hollywood except the very first, the one in which she played hardly more than a bit with John Barrymore.

BUT what I can not understand is why any newspaperman or woman should ever become excited over the personal whimsies of an actor or an actress to the extent of becoming bitter in what they write. After all, who is an actor or an actress to make you mad?

I think Hollywood made a fine mess of a very nice package when it gave pouting lips to Hepburn, caved in her cheeks, and hung floppy bangs over her forehead. That first slight role she played in "Bill of Divorcement" was the last glimpse anybody ever had of the easy, natural kid who went to the studio lots looking for a career. Thereafter she was made to follow some of that fine Hollywood reasoning, so that it was only a matter of time before Hepburn pictures began to be no especial draw at the boxoffice.

In any case she is back and some of the interviewers are intimating that Katie is now a penitent lass. Pentinent for what? For abusing the feelings of a few reporters, or running away from a few photographers?

In a recent interview Miss Hepburn made some such remark as this: "Some of the writers were pretty hard on me, but I deserved it. If I were a critic I know I would never be able to keep my personal feelings out of what I wrote."

SOME of the writers certainly did deal severely with her performances, especially in "The Lake," a luckless assignment for any actress.

But you wait. She's now rehearsing a new Barry play for the Guild, "The Philadelphia Story," and, let the notices be good, you see how docile this Connecticut doctor's daughter will be. She has always despised the business of being pretty-pease for the camera. And she can't understand why it isn't her business if she "vaunts to be alone"—like Garbo.

Cheerfulness Pays

Vancouver (AP)—Cheerfulness pays, believes Miss Marietta Stanley, for 18 years telephone operator at St. Paul's Hospital here. In appreciation of her work hospital doctors gave Miss Stanley a month's vacation and a trip to Honolulu.

Financial and Commercial

Trading on Stock Exchange Friday Best Since Feb. 6

Trading on the Stock Exchange Friday was at the best volume since February 6, nearly three weeks, a total of 970,000 shares changing hands. All classes of securities showed good gains for the day and closed at the average highs, 63 stocks setting new high marks for 1939. At the close industrials were up 2.51 points for the day, to 145.54 in the Dow-Jones averages; rails showed a gain of 1.07 points, to 30.90 and utilities had advanced 0.69 point, to 25.45. At San Francisco, following the closing of the New York market, eastern stocks went still higher. Bonds also advanced and 10 public utilities in the Dow-Jones list set an all-time high.

Commodity markets also advanced, with cocoa in the lead. The cotton market was steady in active buying and the list closed four points higher to one lower. Grain markets were off fractionally. Spot silk again moved upward, three to five cents a pound over Thursday two years highs.

Barron's index shows business last week 74.8 per cent of normal, a slight gain over the preceding week.

As a result of the labor shutdown at the Plymouth plant auto output last week dropped to 75,660 units, as against 79,860 the preceding week. A year ago the total was 56,677.

For the first time since early January department store sales throughout the country were higher last week than in the same week in 1938. Federal reserve reports covering 265 stores, show a general gain of 2 per cent over last year. New York and Brooklyn department store sales, which have been lagging, were 2.2 per cent ahead for the week ending February 18. Minneapolis and Kansas City districts showed gains of 13 and 16 per cent respectively.

Rate revisions authorized by the ICC will give Railway Express Agency increased revenues totaling $10,000,000 a year.

January net operating income of the first 18 railroads to report was 92.3 per cent above the 1938 month, but 6.5 per cent below January, 1937.

Stocks rose on the London market yesterday, the Financial Times industrial and rail averages going into new highs for the year.

Some 1938 net income reports include: Butler Bros., net of $718,908, or 28 cents a share, vs. net of $1,673,388, or $1.12 a share in 1936. Loft Candy, net loss of $1,126,590. Houston Oil, net of $1,448,813, vs. 1937 net of $1,574,327. Abbott Laboratories, net of $1,648,326 vs. $1,612,360.

Butler Bros. had January sales seven per cent over 1938. Sales volume last year was 12 per cent under 1937, total being $74,775,658.

Bonuses totaling approximately $1,000,000 have been distributed to clerks representing approximately one-third of the employes of the A. & P. Tea Co.

being replaced with modern sewers, and new sewers are being laid in streets that never before had sewer facilities. This project is also giving work to large numbers of men.

Plenty of Work

City Engineer Norton, who has charge of the city's interest in the WPA projects, said today that there were enough projects approved to keep the men on the WPA busy for some time to come.

Is Given Reprieve

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Feb. 25. (AP).—Twenty-six-year-old Roy Lockard, who said "the Lord told me" he would be saved, has escaped again in his grim game of tag with death—at least temporarily. The former Altoona, Pa., WPA worker who was convicted of fatally stabbing a four-year-old boy with a railroad spike and sentenced to die in the electric chair, was granted another reprieve, his 15th, late yesterday by Governor Arthur H. James.

Death Ends Party

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Two carpenters, Arvid Hoyer, 46, and Martin Lunberg, 65, held a joint birthday party last night. Rising to toast his friend of many years, Hoyer suddenly dropped his glass and fell back into his chair. An ambulance physician said he had died of heart disease.

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Apparently in response to the latest government-business peace speech by Secretary of Commerce Hopkins at Des Moines, stock market prices sprinted upward 1 to more than 2 points in today's early dealings.

For the first time in a month the ticker tape fell a minute behind floor transactions shortly after the opening as blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares changed hands on the upswing. Profit taking on the extention of Friday's rally quickly brought a slow-down in the pace and a substantial reduction of extreme gains in many cases. The list stiffened at the close under renewed buying of steels and motors.

While plus signs of as much as a point of so predominated at the finish, there were a few minus marks among the Aircrafts and numerous issues were only a shade ahead. Transfers for the two hours approximated 800,000 shares.

Best performers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Johns-Manville, Union Carbide, American Can, Philip Morris and U. S. Gypsum.

Inclined to lag were Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Sperry, Standard Oil of N. J., and International Harvester. Utilities held to a slim niche as did mail orders, coppers and oils.

Bonds pushed up selectively with stocks. Commodities were narrowly mixed. Securities at Amsterdam, the only important European market open, were higher.

Fire Ends Jubilee

Trinity, Tex., Feb. 25 (AP)—Fire broke up the silver jubilee celebration of the volunteer fire department. Just as speakers concluded praising the volunteers, a blaze started a block away. The firemen quenched it in record time and back to the frolic.

Gulf Corp. Takes Over Newcombe's Storage Plants

Effective March 1 a 10-year lease between the Wiltwyck Holding Company of this city and Gulf Oil Corporation will give control to the Gulf corporation of the wholesale bulk storage plants in Kingston and Newburgh and three Kingston service stations as well as eight mountain service stations which have been operated by the Wiltwyck Holding Company, one of the numerous interests of the late Austin R. Newcombe.

The lease of these stations to the Gulf Company will not affect the properties operated by the Austin R. Newcombe Company of which Ray Garraghan and LeRoy Van Bramer will continue to be managers. The Newcombe Company will continue to operate a bulk storage plant for gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil at Kingston Point as well as five service stations in Ulster county.

Under the lease the Newburgh and Kingston bulk plants as well as the three service stations in Kingston at Broadway near East Chester street, Washington avenue near Hurley avenue, and on the East Chester by-pass together with stations at Margaretville, Fleischmanns, Roxbury, Grand Gorge, and Windham will go under management of Gulf.

Operating from one of the bulk storage plants at Kingston Point the Austin R. Newcombe Company will continue to distribute gas, oil and kerosene in this area and operate the five stations in the immediate vicinity of Kingston. Under the ten year least by Wiltwyck Holding Company to Gulf the more distant stations are taken over by the Gulf Company.

Deny Application In Ford Case

Justice Francis Bergen has denied the application made for examination of the minutes of the grand jury in the Charles Ford case.

Applicatian was made by N. LeVan Haver, counsel for defendant, to examine the grand jury minutes on the grounds that the inspection was desired to determine whether evidence had been presented before the grand jury finding the indictment as to the mental condition of the defendant on the day of the crime. Charles E. Ford is charged by indictment with murder, second degree, for the killing of Harvey Clancy at Phoenicia on October 22, last.

The application made for inspection of the grand jury minutes was based on an allegation that the indictment had been found on insufficient, improper and illegal testimony.

In his decision Justice Bergan holds that though there may have been testimony before the grand jury of defendant's mental condition, this does not lead to an inference that the indictment was based on insufficient, incompetent or illegal evidence. He holds that insanity may be pleaded as a defense.

The motion for inspection of the minutes was opposed by District Attorney Cleon B. Murray.

P. B. Gilbert Dies At Berlin Embassy

Berlin, Feb. 25 (AP)—Prentiss B. Gilbert, charge d'affairs at the United States Embassy, died last night of a heart attack. He was 55 years old.

Mrs. Gilbert, who was vacationing at Davos, Switzerland, was notified and started at once to return to Berlin. She planned to catch a plane at Zurich which would reach Berlin at noon today.

Early last night the embassy advised the diplomat's wife that the heart attack was not considered serious and that she need not hurry back. At 9 p. m. Gilbert died. He was a native of Rochester, N. Y.

Funeral arrangements were to be made after the return of Mrs. Gilbert.

When last seen by friends not connected with the embassy, Gilbert appeared in the best of spirits. Only a few members of the embassy staff knew of the heart attack yesterday afternoon.

Gilbert had been in charge of the embassy since the departure of Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson November 16 for Washington on the summons of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull.

Gilbert was succeeded temporarily by First Secretary Jefferson Patterson.

Poland's Capital One of Gayest European Cities

Poland is not ordinarily thought of as a particularly cosmopolitan or youthful nation; yet Warsaw, its capital, is one of the gayest cities after dark in all Europe. To begin with, it is the pleasant Polish custom to close all offices at three p. m. every day, thus giving everyone an excellent start for a long evening. Dinner comes about four, and from then on until past midnight a good many residents of Warsaw, as well as visitors from other countries, amuse themselves at the cafes, night clubs, and theaters.

Opera and drama are popular in Poland, and believe it or not, two of the favorite "Polish" dramatists are named W. Shakespeare and G. B. Shaw. One of the latter's plays, as a matter of fact, had its world premiere in Warsaw.

The whole town seems to be out for entertainment in one form or another almost every night; and the simple explanation is that, in Poland, entertainment is one of the cheapest of all commodities.

A rather informal atmosphere prevails at most of the cafes and clubs, for Poles like to "drop in" at their favorite rendezvous on the spur of the moment. Dancing is found everywhere; and while the usual fox-trots, tangos and rumbas are extremely popular at hotels and night clubs, the polka, the mazur, and other dashing, reckless native dances are still highly favored at fashionable private parties and balls, even as they are among the peasants of the country districts of Poland.

Jersey Scouters Commend Neatness Of Kingston Scouts

When the scouts of Troop No. 11, or St. James Church, made their overnight hike up Wittenberg mountain on the February 12 week-end, under leadership of Scoutmaster E. Freese, they left a note in the lean-to where they spent the night.

Tuesday this week Mr. Freese received an interesting letter from G. Fred Wirrer, assistant scout executive of the Watchung Area Council, Plainfield, N. J., who was one of a group of scouters that recently made the same trip. They found the note left by the Kingston scouts and Mr. Wirrer writes that they were very much pleased with the fine condition in which they found the shelter, with a good stock of cut wood on hand and tin cans and rubbish disposed of.

"This is certainly an ideal site for real wilderness hiking and camping and we were glad to know that other groups that live closer to this neck of the woods are making use of these fine facilities," the writed said.

Weather conditions didn't allow the Watchung group to hike direct to Slide Mountain from the lean-to referred to, so they drove around to the other end of the trail and hiked from there up to Slide the following day.

The Watchung group make this trip an annual affair and one of a series held monthly to various parts of New Jersey and surrounding states.

Traveling Men Oppose Route 9

Kingston Council, United Commercial Travelers, has joined in the rising volume of protest against the arbitrary setting aside of Route 9 on the east side of the Hudson as the "model" highway for travelers to the New York World's Fair.

At the meeting of the council held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Friday night the members voted unanimously against the proposition. They went on record as opposing the discrimination against 9-W and the communities on the west side of the river. The secretary was directed to inform the traffic commission of the action taken by the organization.

SOUTH RONDOUT

South Rondout, Feb. 25—A rummage sale will be held on March 2, 3, 4 by the M. E. Church at the vacant store, Broadway, near Railroad avenue. The patronage of the public will be appreciated. Any donations will be received by any of the ladies of the church.

Dr. and Mrs. Wiegman of Rifton were callers on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scherer on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. James Wesley accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Carle of Kingston to Ellenville Monday evening and attended the official visit of the deputy grand matron of the Eastern Star to Wawarsing Chapter, Masonic Hall.

Patrick Madden, Daniel Madden, John Guziak and Meb Lynch spent Saturday evening at the home of John Scherer.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church will meet Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clair Evans.

Mrs. James Wesley and Miss Kathryn Mellert of Woodstock were supper guests of Mrs. and Miss Gerlach of Sawkill road on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fogg of Kingston were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scherer and family.

The grip is prevalent in the village and many are ill of it.

John Scherer of Albany and Patrick Madden of Wilbur were callers of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barnum and daughters of Kingston were recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cole.

Little Pete Shoemaker was operated on for appendicitis in the Kingston Hospital recently.

Some of the young folks of the village motored to Troy on Wednesday evening to attend the basketball game.

FASHIONS and HOUSEHOLD HINTS FOR WOMEN

Old Chinese Idea Helps Miss '39 Pick Clothes

This is the first of two articles on selecting clothes to suit your personality. Next week's will discuss color in clothes.

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Fashion Editor

Miss Belle Northrup professor of fine arts at Columbia University, has analyzed new spring fashions, labelled them the most delicate and romantic since the war and worked out a plan by which women may tell which ones belong to them.

Miss Northrup, who teaches costume design at Teachers' College, divides women, clothes, even buildings, into three groups—the Yins, the Yangs, and the In-Betweens. The Yin-Yang idea isn't new (the Chinese thought of it some 3,000 years ago.) But the way Miss Northrup handles it, it is,

They Add Up To Yin

Romantic ultra-feminine clothes the fashion stage this spring. clothes with fitted waists and full skirts, slim high waisted [illegible]ire evening gowns, frilly [illegible] blouses, ruffled muslin [illegible]coats, colored shoes and flow[illegible]ecked hats are all there. Even [illegible]e de chine has come back.

For the first time in years, says [illegible] Northrup, clothes have real [illegible] characteristics, with a good [illegible]Between slant.

Yin characteristics, says the [illegible]ed blue-eyed woman, are del[illegible]cy, demureness, piquancy, gen[illegible]ness, grace, mildness and youth. Yin women generally have small [illegible]ysiques, small graceful hands and feet, light hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. Their lines curve, heads are delicately poised, their movements light, graceful. Janet Gaynor and Mary Carlisle are Yins, Miss Northrup thinks.

Yang For Force

Yang women have vigor, dignity, strength, force, directness, maturity and sophistication. They are dramatic but not masculine.

They generally are fairly tall, and move with directness. They have heads well set on shoulders, forceful eyes, rich voices. Eyes and hair are often dark. Miss Northrup cites Greta Garbo and Joan Crawford as typical Yangs.

Most women, however, are In-Betweens, she says. One like this might have a slight figure, small hands and feet, an upright head, dark hair, fair skin and dynamic forceful eyes.

"The Yings are going to enjoy this spring's fashions," Miss Northrup asserts. "The little-girl silhouette, with its trim waist and short full skirt, short jackets, frilly lingeries blouses, frivolous hats, frothy full-skirted evening frocks, pastel colors, demure prints, ruffles, ribbons and swishing petticoats all belong to them.

"They should avoid sharp stripes, big plaids and prints, heavy tweeds, too straight lines, too square shoulders and draperies or wimples on hats (too dramatic). They also should beware of making themselvse too juvenile or of adopting color schemes which are too pastel in effect.

Warning To Yangs

To the Yangs, she says belong slim silhouettes, straight up-and-down lines, wide shoulders, the Directoire gowns, full skirted evening frocks if made of fabrics like satin or moire instead of extremely diaphanous materials, vee necks, long sleeves, longer skirts.

"Yangs will have to be careful this year or they are going to look silly in the new Yin type of clothes. If they choose full-skirted day frocks, they should see that the fullness is concentrated in front, leaving the sides fairly slim. They should avoid too sentimental hats, small puffed sleeves and ruffles and ultra-frilly lingerie blouses like the plague. They can get their lingerie effect with crisp white pointed collars which are excellent for them.

"The In-Betweens will get their best effects by dressing to conform to their dominant points."

Here is a new spring costume which Miss Belle Northrup professor of fine arts at Columbia University characterizes as chiefly Yin (romantic, delicate, young). The veiled violet-covered sailor and flower lapel clip emphasizes its Yin qualities she says. The suit is designed of beige wool.

Baked kidney beans with ham, French or Italian bread, a big bowl of green salad and lots of coffee, is a man's meal.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

You also can call on kidney beans for substantial salads. Here's a recipe that makes eight portions: Blend two cups of cooked kidney beans with two diced hard-cooked eggs, two-thirds of a cup of diced celery, one teaspoon of minced onions, two teaspoons of minced parsley and one-fourth of a cup of diced [illegible] The pickles give a [illegible] brings out the other flavors. When ready to serve, add one-half a cup of salad dressing.

If you use canned kidney beans for a salad it's advisable to rinse off the bean stock with cold water.

Kidney Bean Soup

Kidney bean soup makes a good main dish; it's a thick flavorful mixture resembling that favorite split pea soup. To make four generous servings soak one cup of dried kidney beans over night in two cups of cold water. Then add the beans and water to one-half a cup of diced carrots, one-fourth of a cup of diced potatoes, two tablespoons of chopped onions, three tablespoons of chopped celery, a ham bone and six cups of boiling water. Cover and simmer three hours. Press through a fine sieve, season with half a teaspoon salt and one-fourth a teaspoon of white pepper.

Creole kidney beans will give variety to your menus. Serve this as a main dish for luncheon, dinner or supper. Brown four tablespoons of chopped green peppers, three tablespoons of chopped onions and two tablespoons of minced celery in five tablespoons of dried salt pork. Pour in three cups of tomatoes, one-half a teaspoon of salt, one-half a teaspoon of granulated sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoon of nutmeg and one-third of a teaspoon of paprika. Cover and simmer ten minutes. Pour over three cups of cooked kidney beans and bake in a covered casserole for forty-five minutes in slow oven. Uncover and bake ten minutes to brown the top.

Baked Kidney Beans With Ham

(Serves 6)

Three tablespoons onion (chopped), 3 tablespoons olive oil, 4 cups kidney beans (canned), 1 tablespoon parsley (minced), ½ cup dry vermouth, 1 slice smoked ham, ¼ inch thick.

Cook the onion in the olive oil about five minutes. Drain the beans, add onion, parsley and vermouth. Arrange a layer of the beans in individual baking dishes, add the ham, cut in pieces for serving, and cover with layer of beans. Bake in a moderate over (350 degrees) about 45 minutes.

It's Best To Be Your Age When Treating Your Skin

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

An expert who for 20 years has specialized in keeping the bloom on the cheeks of English beauties says American women made a bad mistake in trying to classify their skins simply as either dry or oily.

Lilian Mayle, who works with English court and society women, says skins really fall into three categories: youthful, mature and older. Each has its particular problems and treatment beneficial to one may naturally do no good for another.

A Base For Youth

Soap and water is the best for youthful skin, says Miss Mayle; warns that when the young girl starts wearing powder regularly, she should begin applying a good milk powder base. Without it, the continued use of soap, water and powder may leave her skin dry and taut.

Acne and blackheads, special problems of adolescence, can be cleared up by special lotions and corrective diets, she says. Once they are in good condition again, young skins refine themselves.

Women between 20 and 40 should be more careful. Gentle astringents and creams with a certain amount of bracing powder (light tissue creams) often are necessary to keep the texture smooth and soft.

Activity And Cocktails

"For as a woman gets older, acidity and yellowness set in," explains Miss Mayle. "The circulation isn't what it used to be. Less activity—yes, and more cocktails—pale the bloom of youth."

Droopy neck muscles are a sure sign of fifty-and-over skins, she points out. Particularly if the woman in question has been reducing. Consequently, what the older skin needs are heavier creams which must be vigorously massaged in with the fingertips.

Clear, youthful skin, such that of Anne Francine, this New York debutante, needs little care but soap and water.

Sybil Jones, English society girl, uses light cream and astringent.

Older skins need heavier creams, massaging. The neck is especially vulnerable.

'Typical Consumer, Follows The Ads To Make $2,200 Income Keep Four

By The (AP) Feature Service

New York—"Backbone of the nation" is what the Dry Goods Association's managing director called Mrs. J. Richard Powell in dubbing her Mrs. Typical Consumer.

She's a $2,200-a-year bank clerk's wife who finds that being "just naturally a little suspicious" helps a lot in shopping for bargains.

When the Powells were wed 11 years ago, they both had jobs. Along came the kids—a boy now 10 and a girl now 5—and the depression, and Mrs. Powell learned how four can live as cheaply as one, even in New York.

Making Every Penny Count

Here's how she manages it: One week's pay covers one month's rent on an apartment with two bedrooms, a parlor, kitchen and bath. Another week's pay more than covers a month's food. That leaves about two weeks' pay for everything else that bobs up in a month.

Now step into her tidy parlor and hear how Mrs. Typical Consumer handles three big items:

LAUNDRY—She talked her husband into wearing shirts with detachable collars so that she can wash and iron the shirts herself and send the collars out. She has no mangle for ironing sheets, but she makes them look nice by hand-ironing about 12 inches at the top of each one.

CLOTHING—She reads the ads (the Powells get both a morning and an evening newspaper), noting especially the details given in small type, and thinks nothing of buying five pairs of shoes at once when she spots a bargain. Frequently she gets good material and makes her own dresses rather than buy them ready-made.

FOOD—She buys two quarts of Grade A milk a day for the children and five quarts of Grade B a week for cooking. She chooses cheap cuts of meat. She shells her own peas. And she uses a steam cooker to cook meat and vegetables at the same time.

Worked Out Own Budget

When Mrs. T. C. began budgeting, she consulted the pamphlets put out by banks and insurance companies, but discarded them because those plans called for saving more or putting more into insurance than she felt she could afford. So she made up her own budget.

The Powells have an auto because she doesn't see how they could get along without one, and they don't figure on saving mich money. Their theory is that some day the income will be larger.

Banquets Need Not Only Food —But Thought

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Getting a creditable crowd to the event isn't the banquet chairman's only job—a second problem, just as important, is seeing that the affair provides the greatest possible enjoyment to the greatest number of those who attend.

Attracting the banqueters, of course, is the first problem, and old-timers in banquet-planning usually give two major suggestions on that:

Send out interesting announcements—have them at least slightly humorous, if possible. Announce the major attraction and mail the announcements about two weeks in advance—far enough ahead to get the event placed on the calendar but still not so early that the card is likely to be forgotten.

As to problem No. 2, here are a few suggestions:

Have as many people as possible help in planning the banquet. Appoint committees to cover every detail, each committee headed by a person on whom you can rely. Not too many people on a committee—and be sure the duties don't conflict.

Keep long-winded speakers off the program. If you feel obligated to call on them there are two ways to minimize the difficulty:

Ask the master of ceremonies to introduce them "so the rest of us will get at least a good look" or instruct the program chairman to send notes asking them to sit at the speakers' table and talk for a specific period of time—five minutes or so.

Additional hints:

Make sure a maximum number of people can see and hear to the best advantage.

Avoid place-cards at all but the speakers' table. They're usually necessary there to insure recognition of the chief speakers but at other tables they have to be changed so much at the last minute they aren't worth the trouble.

Make every effort to see that guests get acquainted. A reception committee will help there.

Settle the tipping problem in advance with the managers of the place where the banquet is held.

Hurry-Up Trick

If you are in a hurry, bake meat or fish loaves in well buttered muffin pans. This just about halves the baking time.

Character Lead In Senior Play Unusual

The most unusual bit of character playing that has been given by any senior class of Kingston High School in the past five or six years was given Friday evening by Miss Helen Schoonmaker at the initial showing of "The Thirteenth Chair," the spine tingling melodrama by Bayard Veiller.

Miss Schoonmaker's portrayal of the middle-aged Irish medium, Madame LaGrange, was outstanding and called for much spontaneous applause. Her gestures, voice, facial expressions and body movements and carriage were always in character and she even carried the Irish brogue into all her lines.

John McCullough as Tim Donahue, the Irish inspector was also well played, and this "veteran" of the stage, who has appeared many times before in stage productions was quite at home.

All the players were well cast. Marguerite Farrell and William Sharkey, who gave the romantic interest in the ingenue leads proved actors of ability and worked up the excitement scenes to their highest pitch.

The play was staged on a good set and ran smoothly from curtain to curtain and its treatment by the cast was satisfying. One fault was with the light switch which, although working simultaneously with the pressing of a button, audibly objected to being used.

Of equal commendation was the work of Edwina Schultz as Mary Eastwood, the doubting member of the dinner party who believed the seance all a fake, and Milton Tsitsera as Philip Mason who was particularly good in the confession scene.

Able support was given by Geraldine Peters, Roger Vreeland, Donald Weeks, Justine Rowe, Faith McCullen, Maxine Taylor, William Dippel, Howard Braunstein, William Studer and Joseph Garland.

The performance last night sustained the fine reputation achieved in dramatic technique by the sincere and hard working senior players. The play selected was a good medium for the expression of the able talent in the class and for the able directing by Miss Madeleine Tarrant.

The warm reception by the audience was a well deserved praise and those who were unable to attend last evening will not want to miss the last performance tonight.

Assisting the production were ...o Herbert, stage manager and scenic designer, Austin O'Toole, assistant stage manager, Russell ...oice, stage carpenter and electrician, Robert Herbert on construction, Rudie Shobaken, house manager, Ethel Ryan, prompter, ...ma Tigar, prompter, Benilda ...imonciai, property manager and ...anet Vetoskie, assistant property manager.

A string sextet, under the direction of Leonard Stine furnished music before the play and between the acts.

New Music Group Formed

Kingston's latest music group has just been organized. It is composed of girls of the teen age, who, under the leadership of Mrs. Raymond Parsells, well-known local musician, have formed an orchestra. The girls have been rehearsing for several months. The group will make its first public appearance in Kingston at Epworth Hall on March 7 and 8, when they will form one of the attractions at the annual minstrel show of the Men's Club of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church.

Several of the girls played at Rosendale Friday evening at the presentation of the play "Queen Esther" given under the auspices of the Rosendale Christian Endeavor Society. The following girls compose the orchestra at present with a few other names to be added next month: Cornets, Bessie Levy, Emilie Landers and Shirley Doyle; violins, Virginiamae Carle, Vera Mackey, Mae Eckert, Erma Tigar and Florence Smith; saxaphone, Edna McHugh; clarinet, Evelyn Crowell; mellophone, Louise Traver; drums, Florence Morton, and piano, Ida Parsells.

C. E. Baptist Program

The Albany Avenue Baptist Christian Endeavor will present the first of a series of 15 Seth Parker programs Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The title of the first play is "The First Parsonage Meeting," which depicts the life of this famous personage. Those in the cast are as follows: Seth Parker, Evan Davis; Minnie Parker, Mabel Terwilliger; Flora Parker, Ruth Koonz; Mahitabel O-Bell, Dorothy Van Buren; Mary Hughes, Mae Ross; Mary Pennypacker, Audrey Greene; Will Hays, Charles Gumaer; E. G. Hughes, Myrl Greene; Irvin, Burton Streeter, and John Clark, Irwin Thomas. Mrs. Chester Greene is the director. A silver offering will be taken.

J. Y. A. to Meet Sunday

A regular meeting of the Jewish Youth Alliance will be held Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the social hall of Temple Emanuel, with Joseph Z. Farkas presiding. The guest speaker for the evening will be Rabbi Maurice J. Bloom of Temple Beth Jacob, Newburgh. His topic will deal with "Jewish Tradition, and Democracy." Rabbi Bloom has traveled in many of the countries of Europe and Asia, and has particularly made a study of conditions in France and Palestine. He is well known to Kingston as a speaker, and is making a return to the local J. Y. A. by popular request. A musical program has been arranged by Mike Levine, chairman of the entertainment committee. Among others, Rabbi and Mrs. Harold Marateck of the Congregation Ahavath Israel, Mrs. Selma L. Levy, Miss Belle Black and Miss Anne Lurie will participate. A social hour will follow the business of the meeting.

Junior Hadassah Notes

Junior Hadassah held its regular meeting at the Hebrew School Monday evening. Following the short business meeting Max Katzoff spoke on his travels in Mexico and the southern states; showing the differences in the ways of living in the different parts of the country. Junior Hadassah has accepted an invitation of the Jewish Youth Alliance to hold a joint Purim party March 5, and a joint meeting of the Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Kingston Junior Hadassahs will be held March 20.

Entertained at Cards

Mr. and Mrs. Auley C. Roosa of Lake Katrine entertained at cards the members and friends of the local Home Bureau at their home on Thursday evening. Seven tables of pinochle were in play.

Those present were: Mrs. Paul Lynker and Mr. and Mrs. George Adams of Mt. Marion, Mrs. Mabel Van Etten, Mrs. Max Lachmann, Paul Lachmann, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Munson, Mrs. William Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parish, Mrs. Henry Coleman, Mrs. Carl Wille, Mrs. Rupert Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Keator, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parish, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schuler, Mrs. Earl Sagendorf, Mrs. Daisy Sagendorf, Mr. and Mrs. James Forman, Mrs. Graham Parish, Mrs. Daniel Morehouse, Robert Morehouse, Mrs. Golden Roosa and Mr. and Mrs. Auley Roosa.

Celebrates 106th Birthday

The Newark, N. J., Evening News of February 21 has a picture of Mrs. Ann Devaney of 155 Grant avenue, East Newark, who that day celebrated her 106th birthday anniversary. The unusual event was marked by a tea, held at the home in which Mrs. Devaney has lived for 51 years, with representatives of five generations present.

Mrs. Devaney, who is an aunt to Mrs. George A. Tellier of 9 Susan street, Kingston, was born in Donegal, Ireland, on Shrove Tuesday, in 1833. She came to this country in 1868. The centenarian makes her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Conlon. Until a few months ago she read the newspapers daily. She now pays particular attention to radio news programs and has relatives read to her about foreign affairs. Usually she arises about 10 o'clock in the morning and sits near the window in the living room of her home. Occasionally, with assistance, she takes a walk in the yard.

Attending the birthday party were Mrs. Devaney's two daughters, seven grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and one great great-grandchild.

Academy Play Next Week

The Dramatic Society of The Academy of St. Ursula will present its annual play Saturday and Sunday afternoons, March 4 and 5 in St. Mary's School hall. "The Master of Death," the title of the production, is appropriate for the season. The performance Saturday afternoon will be primarily for the children but adults may also attend.

Special Music Program Planned

A special vocal and instrumental program will be given Sunday, March 5 by the senior choir of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Guest artist of the evening will be Josephine Mortel Dederick of Saugerties. The program will include the motet, "Hear My Prayer" by Mendelssohn, and the "Gloria" from the "Twelfth Mass" of Mozart. The instrumental numbers will include "Meditation" by D'Alessio for four violins, piano and organ, "Sweet Spirit, Hear My Prayer" by Wallace and "Song Without Words." Leonard Stine is the choir director and Frederick Richens, organist.

Pineapple Fritters

1 cup flour	1 egg
2 teaspoons baking powder	½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt	6 slices pineapple
½ teaspoon granulated sugar

Mix together the flour, baking powder, salt, sugar, egg and milk. Beat until creamy. Dip the pineapple into this batter and fry in deep hot fat for three minutes. Drain. Sprinkle lightly with granulated sugar and serve hot.

Rice Stuffing For Fowl

4 tablespoons fat	2 cups boiled brown rice
3 tablespoons chopped onions	2 cups soft bread
1 cup diced celery	½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers	¼ teaspoon paprika
½ cup boiling water	3 tablespoons butter, melted

Heat fat in a frying pan. Add and brown onions. Add celery, peppers and water. Cover and cook five minutes. Lightly mix in remaining ingredients. Stuff fowl.

Green Salad

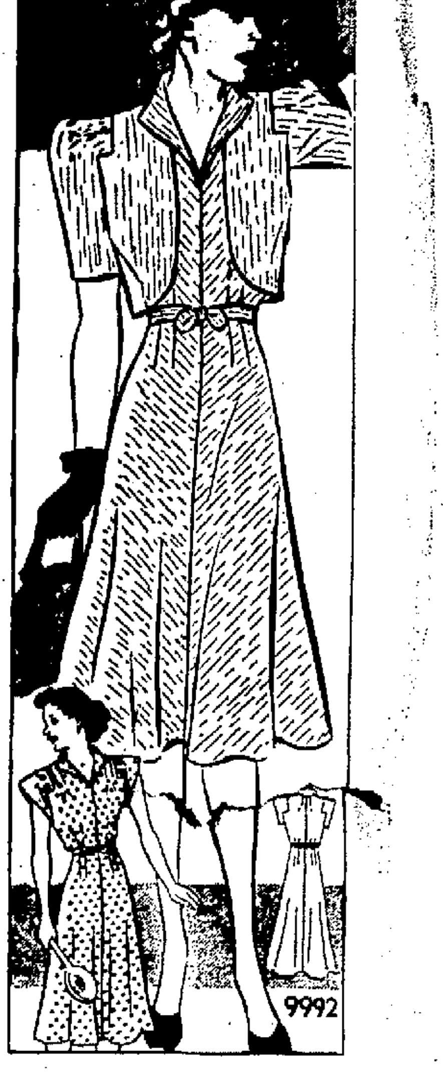
1 garlic clove	1 cup chickory
½ cup French dressing	¼ cup sliced radishes
1 cup chopped lettuce	½ cup grated raw carrots
1 cup cress

Mix dressing and garlic together for five minutes. Discard garlic. Pour dressing over rest of ingredients which have been blended. Cover and chill one hour—or longer. Toss up several times.

CHIC, CASUAL BOLERO FROCK

MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9992



Boleros are back—for a smart fling at the Spring season! And aren't you glad especially since Marian Martin brings you Pattern 9992? Take our word for it, this flared-skirt style is nice either as a tennis dress or an at-home cotton. Now that Easter and the outdoor season are so near, you'll want a new frock of each type. See—there are few pattern parts because of no waistline seam! A series of tucks takes its place, making all so neat. Don't you love the unusual sleeves of bolero and dress? Note that you can have most of your frock cut bias!

Pattern 9992 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16, entire ensemble, requires 4⅝ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Order the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK of latest Spring Fashions, and KNOW that your sewing program is off to a fine start! You'll be thrilled with the number and variety of patterns, including 39 for misses, 17 for junior misses, 17 for matrons, 19 for children. Such lovely things—showing it's a season for Color and Prints, for Basic Frocks and Budget Wardrobes! See easy-to-sew styles for graduations, weddings, dances and boat trips. See, too, plenty of everyday and stay-at-home clothes! BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

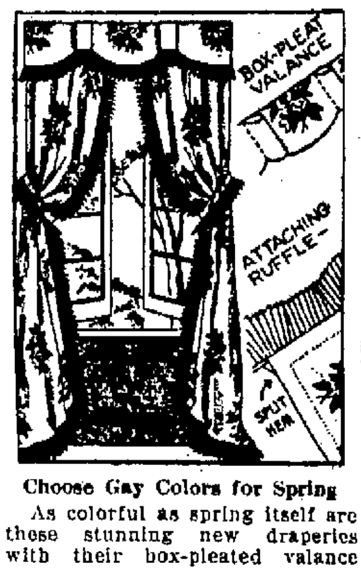
Smart New Draperies You Can Make Yourself



Choose Gay Colors for Spring

As colorful as spring itself are these stunning new draperies with their box-pleated valance and perky, pleated ruffles!

They're so simple to make—and especially lovely in eggshe... chintz with a widely spaced flor... design. Let plain chintz ruffl... pick up soft tones from the flow... ers in the pattern—French blu... rose or apple-green.

For the pretty Colonial-styl... valance make two box pleats a... the top diagram shows. Fol... stitch, press with an iron.

As for the pleated ruffles... one easy way to sew them on... illustrated in the lower diagra... Hem the draperies first, split the hems, turn in the raw edges, insert ruffles and stitch.

Your valance hangs trimly when tacked to a simple valance board—and the draperies fall in rich, even folds when you finish them with pinch pleats—which are simple to sew!

Send 10c in coin for your copy of NEW IDEAS IN MAKING CURTAINS AND DRAPERIES to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

4 Billion Spent On Sports Yearly

By The AP Feature Service

New York—America's caddy bill is more than its payroll for professors.

It is $70,000,000—exclusive of tips.

There are 3,500,000 golfers in the U. S. They spend $500,000,000 a year on the game, or an average cost to the group of $140.

Americans spend $4,000,000,000 a year on sports.

Angling tops the list with $1,200,000,000. Other sports bills in order are:

Firearms (hunting) — $650,000,000.

Motor boating—$600,000,000.

Golf—$500,000,000.

Bowling—$450,000,000.

Skiing—$150,000,000.

Attendance group—$260,000,000. (This includes admission fee and all normal costs for attending all forms of athletic contests.)

Miscellaneous — $190,000,000. (This includes cost of equipment and expenses involved in such sports as billiards, tennis, table tennis, rowing, court tennis, racquets, squash, handball, fencing, etc.)

Sundown Stories

By Mary Graham Bonner

The Penguins Depart

EVEN the little penguins who had known no other home were fluttering with excitement.

There was something beyond Puddle Muddle for which they longed.

Had they dreamed about it, or had Mother Penguin whispered of its charm?

"We've had a lovely time here," squeaked Johnny Penguin, making a low bow.

"You've been wonderful to us," added Mrs. Johnny Penguin, and she told both of the little ones to give Willy Nilly a wing to shake goodby politely, thanking him for all that he had done.

"So you do want to go?" Willy Nilly asked.

The penguins wanted to explain their feelings without being rude or ungrateful but they felt it was so hard to do and Willy Nilly continued speaking:

"I understand. You've liked it here, you've been happy, you've liked us and we've liked you, but this isn't your real home. I would want my Puddle Muddlers to enjoy themselves if they went on a visit but I'd always want them to be eager to come back home."

He rubbed their backs and then he called all the Puddle Muddlers to come and say goodby to the penguins.

Even the bears awoke, for they were only sleeping lightly, and came out of their cave to say their growling goodbys, too, and the penguins said:

"We'll think how nice and kind you are when we see the old sea leopards at home," but yet they wanted to go home, and every Puddle Muddler understood.

After the man had taken them away the bears started back for their cave once more, and then changed their minds.

"We won't go back to bed except for naps and rests," growled Jelly Bear. "It's too wonderful to be out in Puddle Muddle again."

For this, to every Puddle Muddler, was home!

Liberty Snaps Kingston's 25-Game Winning Streak In Duso Basketball Contest

History repeated itself again ast night up in Liberty when for e second season in a row the gy Indians struck back at Kingson High School's undefeated warors to hand them a 43 to 31 setack. "Yutch" Meadow and Louie Hasbrouck, star forwards of the ribe took the spotlight by scorg 19 and 15 points respectively. eorge "Whiskers" Dougherty as high for the Maroon with ine.

Last year an undefeated band f Kias-coached athletes invaded he Liberty stronghold and were tayoed after enjoying a long 28 ame skein of victories. Once gain this year the Indians proved to be a troublesome foe for he injury-ridden Kingston five.

Playing without their keyman Milt Dubin the locals were outclassed from the beginning. Although George Dougherty sliced himself plenty of laurels for his fine play throughout the battle Kingston was indeed hampered without its ace. On the other hand the Rossmen just couldn't miss that wicket when Meadow or Hasbrouck sizzled in shots.

The unblemished record of 25 straight wins took an unmerciful lacing by the Tribe from Liberty. Harry Flowers and Dougherty started in the place of Ray Lindhurst and Dubin, two of Kingston's biggest factors in the combing of that impressive string of wins. With these two prominent men out of action the newlycrowned champs couldn't find themselves.

Only in the first few minutes of the first session did Kingston have a look at a possible victory. George Dougherty started off by pumping in two fouls and then came back to help Andy Murphy whip in a layup. Hasbrouck chucked in two fouls and was followed by Dougherty who added another charity stripe marker to his total. With the score 5-2 Gerber, Hasbrouck and Austin rallied Liberty making the count read 9-5. Before the first quarter expired Murphy meshed a foul and Hasbrouck another pushup.

Liberty Takes Lead

Kingston still pushed on as Jess Shultis lathered the net for an arched field and Harry Flowers a foul. The sensational "Yutch" Meadow finally reached the scoring ledger with a deuce mixed in with Dougherty's pretty layup. As the second period progressed the steady floorwork and shooting of Lou Hasbrouck kept the Indians in the driver's seat without too much opposition being offered by the Colonial City basketeers.

After taking the lead from Kingston in the initial session Liberty retained it for the remainder of the game. Meadow, after registering his first field, rocked back and pushed in two more before the half ended. Liberty led by 22-15.

Meadow really got hot in the third stanza by opening the period with two successive drills. And after Dougherty lunged in for a score, came back with three more. Lanky Ray Van Buren interrupted the walkaway momentarily by dribbling in and then catching the net with one of his famous hook shots. But again Liberty rained back with an assortment of pushups and pop lifts.

At the start of the final quarter Coach Kias sent in Buddy Hughes for the tired Harry Flowers, who had played a good game. After Bob Austin and Hasbrouck had registered six points between them, the Maroon and White representatives, striving for a hance to get closer to the powerl Indian team, broke in for a pell of neat flips by Jess Shultis, ay Van Buren and George Dougherty. Following Lou Hasbrouck's set flip from side court, Kingston started its drive. Shulis lobbed in a foul as did Van uren. Then in two straight assing plays Dougherty shoved n a side shot while Ray Van uren anchored with a layup. About three minutes before the nal gun sounded Coach G. Waren Kias supplanted Andy Murhy who had been injured. Bill Strubie was his replacement. The nal score was 43 to 31.

KELLY'S CORNER • By JOE KELLY

Hercules on Bowling Trip— Stagehand Is Favorite

Thirty-three Hercules employes will bus it to Kenvil, N. J., today to bowl against the Powdermakers of that community...The Hercules outfit has its own alleys there...Looks like Lou Ambers is going to boom his way right back to that lightweight title again...Watch out Henry Armstrong...Monk Armstrong did the trick in the local ring last night in four heats...The Diamond Belt middleweight champ is improving in every fight...He can go to San Francisco if he beats Bradley Lewis...What a fight that should be!...Sergeant Perry, the other local Diamond Belt titleholder, made short work of Joe Bliss...But, Joe's Golden Gloves record is not marred by his kayo defeat... Bliss vouches that Perry has the kick of a heavyweight in that right, although Charlie is only a light-heavy by rights...This Reiser boy really went to town last night at Wilkes-Barre...Sixteen points!...Some score!... Moe Dubilier, second highest tally maker in the American League had to be satisfied with seven for the Barons...Good thing Kingston High School clinched that DUSO basketball title before Dubin and Lindhurst went on the shelf...Lindy has pneumonia, Dubin a bad shoulder.

Today those Beal trophy matches started for the Central Hudson teams...Kingston hopes to retain the cap...George Gainford, Golden Gloves trainer from New York, was more than surprised to find how much Hurd Alexander knew about the fight game...Buddy Clayton, former manager of Sammy Bruce, who handles Hurd, wants the Albany boy to turn pro...Alexander would like to wait until after the Golden Gloves at San Francisco...All the boys are anxious about making that trip to the coast, it seems... Hank Horowy, Fordham mound ace, is ready to talk with the highest bidder...He lost only two games in five years...Stagehand has replaced War Admiral as favorite in the $50,000 Widener Handicap...Barney Ross says Davey Day will beat Henry Armstrong for the welterweight title. ..Three members of the baseball hall of fame—Eddie Collins, Walter Johnson and George Sisler—have sons about ready to make big time...Ed Barrow, who is having salary troubles with DiMaggio, Dickey, et al, likes to talk about the time he signed Hans Wagner for $125 per month.

Quick Defeats Schilling 100-73

Cliff Quick continued his winning ways in the city pocket billiard tournament last night when he defeated Frank Schilling 100 to 73. Quick, as usual, built up a commanding lead early in the game and at no time did he have to worry about being overcome. The winner had a high run of 15 and Schilling had 14.

Sunday's schedule calls for another double header, with Dave Brooks and Bill Hopper, the riding master, tangling in the afternoon at 2.30 and the evening match will feature Julius Tellier, the maestro of the Swinging Strings, against Eddie Benoit, the Hoover hurricane.

Only 4 Champs Are Favorites

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Only four of the ten individual defending champions in the National A. A. U. championships tonight at Madison Square Garden can be rated favorites to repeat.

Two of them, of course, are Cunningham, out for his fourth 1,500-meter title, and Lash, seeking his second 5,000-meter crown. The others are Frank Ryan of Columbia and Irving Folwartshny of the New York A. C., the country's most consistent shot putter and 35-pound weight thrower, respectively.

Flamingo Stakes

Miami, Fla. Feb. 25. (AP).—There's no guarantee attached, but the 1939 Kentucky Derby winner is supposed to be unveiled about 4:40 o'clock this afternoon out at Hialeah Park, the occasion being the annual running of the $20,000 added Flamingo stakes for three-year-olds.

DUSO League Game Results

Last night, while Kingston played at Liberty, other DUSO Basketball League games resulted as follows:

Middletown 39, Ellenville 22.

Port Jervis 34, Monticello 26.

In junior varsity contests, Middletown won over Ellenville 27-14, and Port Jervis defeated Monticello 19-15.

Poughkeepsie defeated Newburgh Free Academy in a free lance contest for the second time. The score was 43-20.

Barlund Will Train Boxers

Helsingfors, Finland (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Finland has invited the heavyweight fighter, Gunnar Barlund, to train Finnish boxers for the Olympic Games in 1940. Barlund intends to go to the United States in March but is expected to return to prepare the team late in the year.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

Temple 32, Georgetown 25.

The Colonials increased their lead to two and a half games over the Sphas, last night, by defeating the Wilkes-Barre Barons on their court, 46-23.

Chick Reiser, scoring seven fields and two fouls, for 16 points, was the big gun in the attack of the Kingston club which rolled its total number of victories up to 25.

Kingston started with a seven-point lead in the opening period, and held command from then on, as Moe Dubilier, former Colonial, and star of the Barons, failed to click for any more than seven points.

Martens and Jules Bender came right behind Dubilier, who is the closest to Phil Rabin for American League scoring honors, although he isn't pressing the little Jersey Red ace.

In the Colonial drive for points, Nat Frankel, Benny Kramer and Sammy Kaplan followed Reiser with scores as indicated in the list below.

The Philadelphia Hebrews have three chances to boost their standing in the win column, over the week-end, while Kingston remains idle. Philly has two games with the Visitations and one with the Jersey Reds. Kingston's next contest is with the Heurich Brewers of Washington at the municipal auditorium.

TWO TON TONY CONQUERS AGAIN

It doesn't seem to matter to Tony Galento (right) that he's left himself wide open as he gets ready to bomb Abie Feldman in their bout at Miami, Fla., which Galento won by a technical knockout in the third round. Abie, on the other hand, already having taken plenty of punishment, looks as if he believes in being well prepared for trouble to come, as he ducks and covers.

Kukol, Alexander, Perry Win Bouts at Auditorium

Willie Smith, New York lightweight, former international champion, found Steve Kukol of Binghamton a little too fast, and lost the decision to the upstater in the main bout at the municipal auditorium Friday night before a crowd of fistic fans.

Unable to hit the stride that popularized him when he boxed Frankie Mirable, Albany star, more than a year ago, Smith failed to stop Kukol's rally near the end of the match, and the swinging little Binghamton belter came out the victor.

In other bouts, Hurd Alexander, Albany flash, and Charlie Ketchuck, Binghamton's 190 pounder, won impressively. The match between Joe Bliss, Ellenville heavy, and Sergeant Perry of Kingston ended in one round, Perry winning on a knockout.

Alexander, weighing 150, exhibited the same class that made him popular here two weeks ago. He cuffed Warren Jones, 155, of New York, plenty and toward the end of the battle had him in a bad way but did not pile in for a "finishing" blow.

The match between Joe Bliss and Perry looked as though the Ellenville blonde would show something at the beginning, but one of the sergeant's left hooks followed by a dynamic right spoiled Joe's chances before the end of the first round.

Other results:

Monk Armstrong, 157, Kingston knocked out Jack Mashik, 150, Binghamton, in 1:57 of the fourth round. A hard right to the jaw turned the trick. Armstrong led all the way from the first round on.

Golden Gloves Results

In the Golden Gloves elimination feature, Charlie Raigins, 126, Saugerties, outpointed Patsy Motto, 126, Albany, in three rounds, Raigins held a wide edge throughout.

Other results:

118 Pound Novice

Tony Gartex, Kingston A. C., decisioned Jack Hogan, Kingston, three rounds.

160 Pound Novice

Herman Wahl, Albany, won three round decision from George Bleiman, Ellenville.

126 Pound Novice

Gilbert Wolfe, Jefferson won on disqualification from Fred Seymour, Kingston. Seymour refused to fight after entering the ring.

147 Pound Novice

Ed Wheeler, Chatham, knocked out Jimmy Thomas, Albany, in the second round. Thomas was knocked through the ropes.

Johnny Carp, Albany, awarded technical knockout over Bill Hanson, Albany, when latter was unable to answer bell for the second round.

Another card of bouts will be held Friday, March 10.

Ambers Stops Arizmendi In 11th Round at Garden

New York, Feb. 25 (AP).—It is always a pleasure to watch little Lou Ambers shake the man off his back, shuffle out and take command of a fight. He did it last night in licking the Mexican, Baby Arizmendi, and now looms so largely in the lightweight picture it takes the Mt. Wilson telescope to find Hammering Henry Armstrong.

For in cutting Arizmendi down in ten bloody rounds, Luigi from Herkimer, N. Y., did what the hammer couldn't do in five fights and 52 rounds. True, Lou didn't knock the baby off his solid pins, but once he got going, midway through the fourth round, he turned in a masterful performance.

His left hand cut and bruised Arizmendi's scrambled features and by the end of the ninth, the little Mexican was blueeding freely from cuts around both eyes. As the bell rang for the 11th and Arizmendi came out, temporarily patched-up and ready to go, the referee walked in front of him flinging his arms wide in the signal that means, "that's all folks." Officially the end came after four seconds of the 11th.

To the 8,831 in the house there wasn't much doubt as to the winner. Indeed, in the sixth round some in the gallery had started to chant, "Arizmendi the human punching bag."

It wasn't quite that bad. The baby was in there swinging at the start. He reddened the skin over Ambers' short ribs and shook him again and again with bruising hooks that landed just under the heart. But he lost two rounds on low blows.

In the fourth Ambers, who at 135¾, was only a quarter pound under Arizmendi's weight, came out strong and fast and took command after the brawl, while his manager, Al Weill, was bellowing in hearty fashion, Lou confessed he was "tight like" for the first three rounds and didn't really warm up to his work until the fourth.

The gate was $19,635.

Wappingers Falls At White Eagle

The basketball attraction next Tuesday at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, will feature the White Eagles against Wappingers Falls at 9 o'clock.

Two preliminaries are on the schedule. A 8 o'clock two girls' teams will play and at 7 o'clock, the Buccaneers will play the Pickups.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Lou Ambers, 135¾, Herkimer, N. Y., former world's lightweight champion, stopped Baby Arizmendi, 136, Mexico, (11).

Clintons Play Forsts Tonight

Tonight the Clinton Avenue Wings tangle with the Forst Packers in a game which promises to afford plenty of action to Epworth Hall fans. Forsts will enter the game as slight favorites in view of their surprising upset over the Uptown Merchants in last week's City League contest. The Clintons are expected to give the Packers plenty of competition, however, on their home court.

The Wings will use Art Crist, Bill Stall, Fred Renn, E. Bartrott, Don Britt, Ed Snyder and Bob Ferguson in an attempt to again hit their winning stride. Forsts will probably use Bradford, Meacel, Terpening, Magnino, Maurer and Woods.

Italy Wants Games

Rome, Feb. 25 (AP). — Italy, striving to obtain the 1944 Olympic games for Rome, is prepared to erect an elaborate setting. The Italian Olympic committee yesterday approved plans for a great new stadium. Application for the games will be made at the June meeting of the International Olympic committee.

at a change in the state by violence. The Hungarist program was known to be pro-German, but authorities said they could not supply direct evidence that money was sent from Berlin to support the movement.

Hundreds of police conducted the raids yesterday. It was announced that 60 "leading personalities" in the Hungarist Party had been sent to a concentration camp at Kistarcsa. Authorities said they found scores of prominent Hungarians listed on membership rolls seized in the raids.

The leader of the Hungarist "Black Corps," the allegedly terrorist section which was accused of having bombed the Dohany street synagogue February 3, was still sought. He is known to police and Hungarists as "Cheerful Nick." Since the synagogue bombing, in an anti-Jewish outbreak, Budapest has been under martial law.

New Insurance Coverage On School Property Here To Save $800 Annually

Insurance on the school property of the city as well as various "liability" insurance carried on school equipment and property will be rewritten effective March 15 at an estimated saving of approximately $800 annually and with the decreased premium will come some $260,000 more protection.

This saving has been brought about by a very extensive study of the insurance problem by the Insurance Committee of the Board of Education, Messrs. Hutton, Lane and Feeney, in conjunction with a committee from the insurance agencies of the city which included Messrs. Van Valkenburgh, Pardee and Carey.

Following several partial reports made over the past several months the committee Friday evening reported to the Board of Education that it was ready now to have the entire coverage rewritten in accordance with the recommendations of the insurance men's committee following a survey made by engineers from two large insurance companies. This survey was made without cost and is based on the present value of buildings and equipment and is the first comprehensive survey of school property to determine true values in many years.

The survey was made with the idea of determining whether some buildings were underinsured while others were over insured and the committee Friday evening reported that in its opinion this inequality had been overcome.

Trustee Hutton making the report for the committee stated that under the new coverage there is not only a more complete coverage and a more equitable writing of policies between agencies but premium payment was being spread out in practically equal annual installments at a considerable saving to the board.

More Adequate Coverage

The average annual premium will be about $4,300. Some years the amount will be lower and some higher. Mr. Hutton said the committee appointed by the insurance men should be highly commended for its work in laying out a more simple and more adequate coverage. Allocation of insurance to the various agencies in the city was under a pre-determined percentage which is in the ratio to which each agent writes insurance in this territory. Thus the larger agencies get a larger share and the smaller agencies participate in the school coverage in proportion to the volume of their annual business. Two agencies will write $325,000 of insurance in mutual companies.

Mr. Hutton recommended that the schedules prepared be adopted by the board. The first year's premium will be $8,375 against which a credit of about $5,500 in returned premiums on cancelled policies may be applied leaving a net cost this year of about $3,000. This sum can be paid by the board out of unexpended balances on hand in other funds.

In the past the board had carried 287 policies on schools and school property. Under the new plan there will be 18 policies. Premiums will become due on March 15 and the policies have been so arranged that there will be an annual premium due of approximately $4,300. Thus the cost of insurance will be divided in practically equal annual payments.

On all grade schools there will be 100 per cent coverage under the 90 per cent co-insurance contract while on the high school and the Myron J. Michael and the new vocational school there will be 80 per cent coverage under the 80 per cent co-insurance contract.

Fire and Liability

The total amount of fire insurance carried will be about $1,225,000 on buildings and $110,000 on contents. Public liability will be carried on all schools and the new Municipal Stadium which is under jurisdiction of the board will carry $25,000 and $50,000 liability. Boiler insurance, workmen's compensation insurance, automobile liability on city cars, burglary and robbery insurance will also be included in the new scheme.

After the report of the committee had been presented by Mr. Hutton, Trustee Katz moved that the report be adopted and that authority be given to cancel all old existing policies and that the new insurance be placed in effect as of March 15, 1939. The motion was unanimously carried.

Trustee Walter then moved that a vote of thanks be extended to the insurance men's committee and the committee of the board for its work.

After the insurance has been written a final report will be made to the board by the committee.

Loughran Speaks To Legion

At a meeting of the Kingston Post, No. 150, of the American Legion, held last night at the Legion Memorial Building, 18 West O'Reilly street, that was record breaking in attendance, Counsellor Roger H. Loughran, a member of the Post, delivered an address on "Lincoln and Washington in the Light of Current Events."

Presented to the gathering by Legionnaire John B. Sterley, Mr. Loughran presented his subject matter in a division of three major crises in recent history, the League of Nations; Japan in Manchuria, and Mussolini in Africa; and the third major crisis—still continuing.

"The Nazi program does not enjoy 100 per cent support," said Mr. Loughran. "Only about 30 per cent of the Germans support Hitler without reservation, some 60 per cent have objections with the present Nazi program and the remaining 10 per cent is violently anti-Nazi."

"Your opinion is your own," continued Mr. Loughran, "I am attempting only to clarify the tangled situation on which we need and honestly crave for light. I hope that this country will stay out of the impending European war. I believe in an adequate army, navy and air force. I believe that we are to set an example by our American way of living, founded on religion, democracy and international good faith, so as to prevent rise in this country of pro-Fascist feeling and induce other nations to copy us."

Furniture Co. Is Given Charter

Albany, Feb. 25 (Special) — The Chester Furniture Co., Inc., of Kingston, has been granted a charter of incorporation by the Secretary of State to carry on a general furniture business.

The capital stock of the company consists of 200 shares of common stock, having no par value.

The incorporators include Katherine Maar, 538 Morris street, and Merton L. Zubres, 236 Morris street, both of Albany, and Joseph A. Woolman, of 103 1st street, Troy.

The Excelsior Manufacturing Corporation, of Kingston, has filed with the secretary of state's department a notice of change of capital from $5,000 to $20,000. The notice was filed by Fowler & Connelly, 293 Wall street, Kingston.

Plead Not Guilty In Liquor Case

New York, Feb. 24 (Special)—Pleas of not guilty were entered in United States District Court here today by eight of the 11 men and women indicted here last week for alleged participation in a liquor conspiracy in Ulster county.

Pleas of innocence were made by Joseph Bosco, Kingston, Anthony Bosco, Kingston, Frank Fabiano, Ulster Landing, Andrew Calo, New York, and Joseph Scalzo, who were released in bail of $1,000 each by Judge John C. Knox. John D. Schenck, Max Solomon and Agnes Marie Cermak, of Kingston, also pleaded not guilty. Their bail was fixed at $500 each. A bench warrant was issued for Anthony Pagliara, who failed to appear.

The defendants are charged with renting a barn on the Cermak farm in Kingston and operating a still there. Another farm, that of John Schenck, was used allegedly for the storage of raw and finished products.

C.M.T.C. Enrolls Young Men Mar. 1

Education Board Asks Van Ingen To Retain Position

give Mr. Van Ingen another week to reconsider and if he still felt he could not remain, the board will then take up the work of finding a successor.

A communication was received relative to rock wool insulation at No. 8 school. The cost was $600. The figure was submitted by a local concern who would use material made in Ulster county. No funds are available for the work and the estimate was filed.

Permission was given the Oratorio Society for use of the high school auditorium for May 2.

Bills amounting to $20,096.41, including $12,125.91 of construction bills, were audited and the payroll amounting to $39,778.90 was audited.

Reports on Visits

President Schmid for the visiting committee reported No. 5, No. 8 and No. 7 school visited as well as the Myron J. Michael School and the high school. For March Trustees Katz and Rowland will serve on the committee.

One lay-out for landscaping the Myron J. Michael School was submitted and other plans will be received. Local landscape men are asked to submit plans and figures.

As suggested by the Department of Education, Kingston will adopt a plan of consolidation of all school organization finances with one general treasurer in charge of school funds and an auditor. There will also be a faculty advisor for each of the organizations. Various school societies, the high school senior class, the various other organizations of the school as well as the athletic association will eventually come under the plan.

Helen Cowles, commercial teacher, has been designated as general-treasurer and George Kenny as auditor. On motion of Trustee Rowland these appointments were ratified by the board. The state department requests that all organizations in the school system having funds come under this plan. In payment of bills the treasurer and the principal will sign checks and there will be a strict audit of all funds. The plan is state-wide.

The board adjourned until March 3.

German Plane Is Lost in Flight

Berlin, Feb. 25 (AP)—Lufthansa, German Aviation Company, announced today that a plane carrying 10 passengers and crewmen was lost yesterday somewhere in the Mediterranean.

The plane was on a special flight from Germany. The company said it had not determined exactly where the plane went down.

Mystery surrounded the disappearance of the plane, which apparently belonged to the military airforce.

Neither its destination nor its passengers' names were divulged by the air ministry.

Lufthansa, Germany's only commercial airline, said the plane was not its property.

An official statement said:

"On a flight over the Mediterranean a German airplane carrying the markings D-Alus came to grief, according to news reaching here. Both she and her 10 occupants must be considered lost."

Mathematics, Spelling Incorrect, Says Ennist

Port Ewen, New York
February 24, 1939

Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman,
Freeman Square,
Kingston, New York.

Dear Sir:

On Wednesday evening, when I read of Judge Hasbrouck's appeal for funds for the restoration of one of the churches of Charleston which was damaged in the recent hurricane, I noted with amusement that, while the judge was high on sentiment, he was extremely low on mathematics. In tonight's editorial, I find that you have slipped into the same pitfall. By both New Deal and Old Deal arithmetic, 1777 plus 241 equals 2018. Therefore, if 241 years have elapsed since Charlestonians aided our ancestors after the burning of Kingston, we must be living well into the twenty-first century. Because, after a diligent search, I can find neither a calendar, almanac nor any other authority to bear out this fact, I take the liberty of calling it to your attention. Let us hope that Charleston receives our contributions long, long before 2018. And incidentally, isn't Charlestown, as you spell it, incorrect?

Very truly yours.
L. B. ENNIST
